Dig for More Bodies In Gangland Cemetery

JACKSON TOWNSHIP, N.J. (AP) — FBI agents using bulldozers churned up the muddy grounds of a suspected Cosa Nostra cemetery today in the search for more gangland murder victims. Two bodies already have been dug up.

In disclosing the probe Friday, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover issued a statement saying the search was the product of an extensive two-year investigation of the Cosa Nostra in New York and New Jersey.

Hoover said the investigation "specifically concerned a number of individuals who had disappeared, allegedly as a result of having incurred the disfavor of Cosa Nostra officials or leaders as far back as 1960, and who are thought to be buried on these sites."

The two bodies, which were found Thursday night in this sparsely populated area 60 miles from New York, were little more than skeletons in tattered remnants of clothing. The FBI made identification on the basis that it had expected to find two specific bodies at two specific points. It declined to say how it knew where the bodies were buried.

One body was tentatively identified as that of Angelo Sonnessa, who was 48 when he disappeared in September 1961.

His skeleton was turned over to Dr. Milton Helfern, chief medical examiner for New York City and one of the nation's foremost medical sleuths, for postmortem examination.

Shipped to Lab

The remains of the other victim, tentatively identified as Kenneth Later, were shipped to the FBI laboratory in Washington for tests. Later, who was 55 when he disappeared on March 29, 1963, was identified as a New York City stockbroker.

The bodies were found on what was once a 20-acre chicken farm. Later's body was found in an oil drum filled with hydrochloric acid and was largely disintegrated.

The owners of the farm, Joseph Celso, 49, and his wife Rose, 46, were arraigned Friday in Asbury Park as material witnesses.

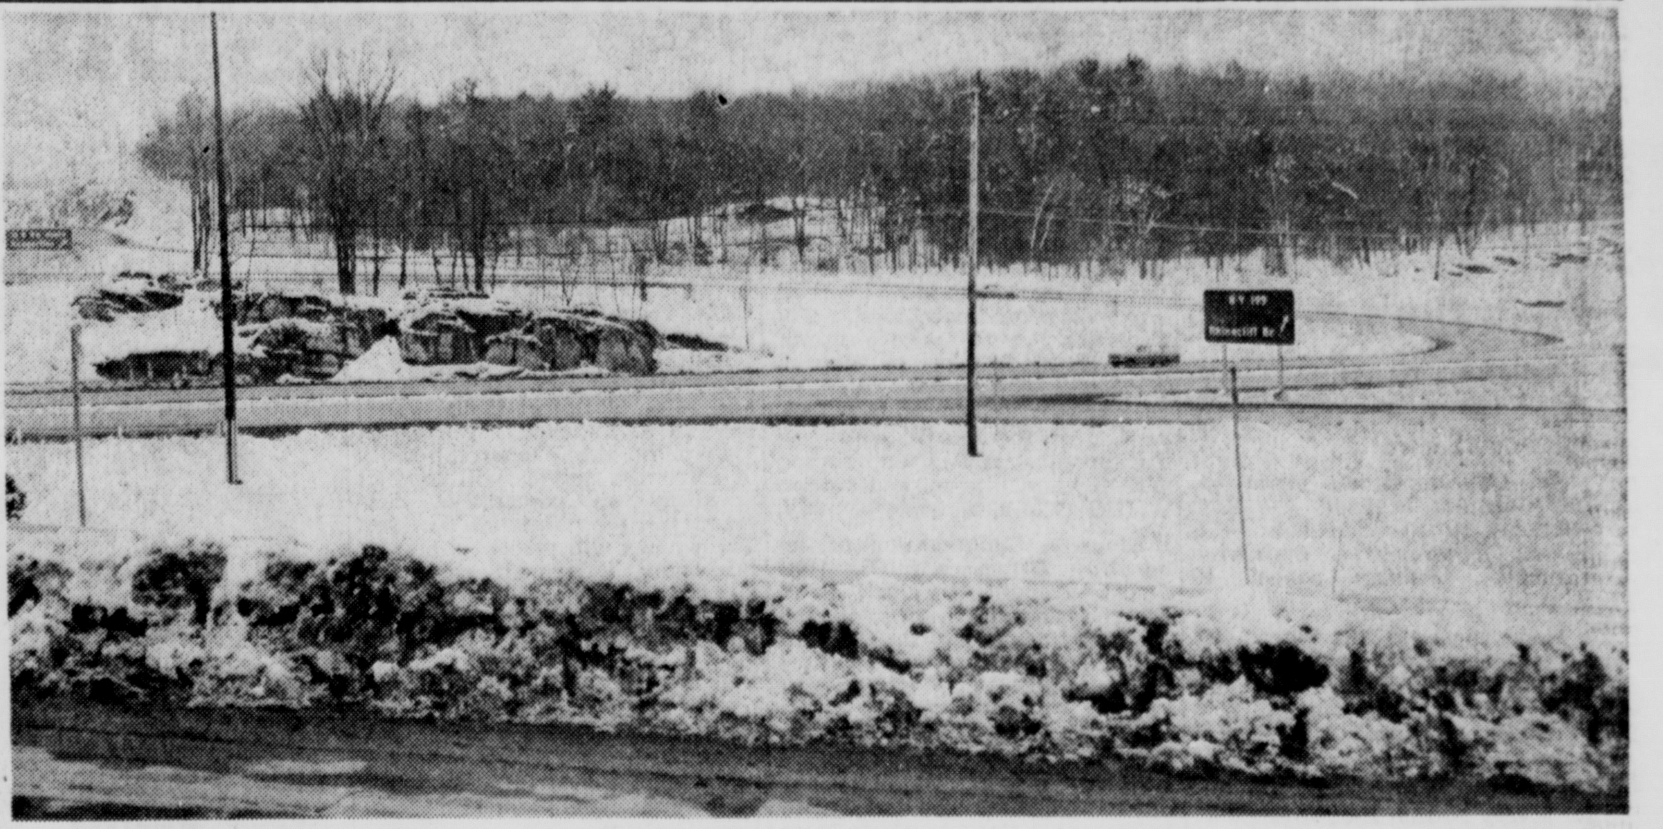

The FBI said Sonnessa was a business partner of the late Joseph Vecchio in the All State Asphalt Co., a contracting firm in Nutley, N.J.

Vecchio was indicted in May 1960 with 29 other men alleged to be the prime distributing organization for heroin in the United States.

The FBI said Sonnessa "had allegedly gained the disfavor of an identified member of the Cosa Nostra who is presently serving a term in a federal penitentiary on a narcotics violation." The FBI declined to identify the narcotics violator by name.

An FBI spokesman would not say what, if any, link had been established between Later and the Cosa Nostra, but it is known that the crime syndicate has infiltrated some brokerage houses and has the money to manipulate some stock prices on various stock exchanges.

Sonnessa's body was found in a mash pit on the site of an abandoned liquor still. A plastic bag was tied around the head with wire and the ankles were bound. The remains of a short shirt also was uncovered.

SITE OF PROPOSED MALL—The wooded area above at the intersection of Route 9W and 209, Town of Ulster, is the site of the proposed new shoppers mall planned by Helmsley-Spear Inc., New York City. Word received today indicates that actual construction would start in about a year. Plot plan showing proposed store layout is on Page 9. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Has Reason For Blast On Landfill

Another Fifth Ward resident opposed to filling in the Kingston Point lagoon on the site of the proposed John F. Kennedy Park, cites the possibility of damaging effects from tides.

He is Samuel Turk, of 28 North Street, who says:

Unalterably Opposed

"I am Samuel Turk, who resides near the proposed project, wish to state that I am unalterably opposed to the filling of the Kingston Point lagoon.

"We are concerned about the effects that unusually high tides, which sometimes inundate portions of our properties, might have if the lagoon is partially filled in. A number of the homes in the vicinity of the lagoon have septic tanks, which are now surcharged during high water. The effect of the landfill could cause an even worse situation.

"We also find it very difficult to comprehend how one governmental agency will cause marshlands to be filled, while another unit of government is buying wetlands for fish and wildlife. The ecology of the lagoon and surrounding marsh are unique for this section of the Hudson.

Aid to Birdlife

"They provide nesting places for waterfowl and other birdlife. Also young fish, some species of which are of commercial value, abound in this area. If the application is approved, much of the area will be unsuited for the fauna which is now present."

Find New Shopping Mall Plans Moving

By WALTER S. CLARK Jr.
Freeman Staff Reporter

Plans are definitely advancing on schedule for a complete major shopping center at the 4-Corner Cloverleaf — southeast of the point where Routes 9W and 209 cross before continuing toward the New York State Thruway, the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge, Saugerties and Kingston.

This was emphasized in a report received by The Freeman today from Helmsley-Spear, Inc., real estate consultants and planning agents for the investing group developing the center to be known as Kingston Mall.

The report reads in part: "The expanding economy and the potential growth pattern of the Kingston (N.Y.) area — historically famous as an early Hudson River settlement sophisticated as a center of IBM's computer research and manufacturing — have resulted in the decision to build the first complete major shopping center in the region."

According to Helmsley-Spear, Inc., the new shopping plaza will be built on 30 acres of land at the Town of Ulster site.

Designed by Herbert Fleischer Associates, architects and engineers, the shopping complex will feature a closed-in, "climate-controlled," mall for pleasant and convenient shopping in all kinds of weather and 248,000 square feet of store space. In addition, there will be a parking area with a capacity to handle 2,000 cars.

The "hub" of the center will be a major store of 120,000 square feet of space. Surrounding it will be a super market of 20,000 square feet, a fashion store of 40,000 square feet, service stores of all types amounting to 10,000 square feet, satellite stores totaling 58,000 square feet and a service station.

Major Store Report

There has been repeated speculation in this area that the "major store" might be Gimbel Brothers, Inc., one of the leading stores of its kind in the east. In a recent interview with a staff writer of The Freeman, Edward A. Friedman, of the Helmsley-Spear, Inc. firm of 60 East 42nd Street, New York City, said, "no major tenant and none of the other sites are signed, sealed and delivered as yet."

Although he did not definitely spike rumors that Gimbel's would eventually occupy a major portion of the center, Friedman said, "we are not ready to announce anything as to prospective tenants."

Back in February, 1966, Samuel Nass, vice president of Gimbel's in reply to a letter from this reporter said it "was not our custom to confirm or deny rumors about prospective sites for Gimbel stores, as they continually crop up all over the country."

But, Nass added, "you may rest assured, however, when a site is selected for a Gimbel store the community will know about it officially at least two years in advance of the opening of the store."

Start in One Year

Friedman said in today's report that "construction will start in about one year."

The Helmsley-Spear report noted that "although Kingston itself has a population of only 30,000 people, the new shopping center will be so located as to serve the needs of the 150,000 people who live within a radius of 10 miles from the center of the city, including such areas as Saugerties, Hyde Park and Poughkeepsie."

The H-SI report continues: "Kingston's key location between two large centers of population and industry, 100 miles north of metropolitan New York and 60 miles south of Albany, has strongly stimulated its economic growth — a growth based on manufacturing, agriculture and the resort business."

Co-Chairmen Ask For Cancer Drive Volunteers Here

With the organization of the American Cancer Society's 1967 educational and fund-raising drive rapidly taking shape, the City of Kingston Crusade Co-Chairmen have issued an appeal for additional urgently needed volunteers.

Philip E. Greer and Curtis Van Demark, co-chairmen, said that while the response from those wishing to serve as volunteers in the fight against cancer has been enthusiastic, "many more workers are needed if an outstanding job is to be done."

They explained that the volunteer "is the life-blood of the Society's fight against cancer. It is the volunteer who helps save lives now and holds out the promise of helping save many more in the future."

"Many jobs need to be done before the Crusade starts April 1," they said. "We must organize the train sufficient volunteers to reach every home in the city of Kingston. Records must be kept. People must be contacted. Our communities must be studied and organized so that a strategic attack can be made when the Crusade is launched."

One of the main objectives of the volunteers, the chairmen said, will be to alert every adult to what can be done now about cancer, especially in the six most common sites—the uterus, colon and rectum, breast, oral cavity, lungs and skin.

"These cancers," they said, "account for about 60 per cent of all cases of cancer diagnosed today and for more than 48 per cent of all deaths from cancer."

The co-chairmen urged anyone willing to serve as a volunteer in the 1967 Crusade to communicate with American Cancer Society Crusade Headquarters, 400 Broadway, Kingston. "The reward," they said, "will be the satisfaction one gets out of helping to build a better life for people."

A native of Yonkers, Greer graduated from Kingston High School and is a lieutenant in the Kingston Fire Department. He is active in many fraternal and civic organizations in the city and during World War II served as an electrician in the U.S. Navy in the South Pacific. During the Korean Conflict he served on the Aircraft Carrier USS Oriskany.

Greer is married to the former Nancy Kilmer and they have five children. As a cured cancer patient he has a deep interest in the drive.

Van Demark, a native of Kingston is also a Kingston High School graduate. He completed two years of college in the Army and served with the 29th Signal Corps as a staff sergeant in Korea.

A patrolman with Kingston Police Department since 1963, he is active in his community in church, veteran and fraternal organizations.

He is married to the former Rosette Jackson and they have three children.

Majority Agree Early Easter 'Is Not Right'

By RON WILSON
Freeman Staff Writer

"Easter means the resurrection of Christ."

"It means His victory over death, His return to life . . . and for this reason Easter should be celebrated when spring is in the air and life is returning to the land—not when winter is dying, like it is now."

Karen Houghtaling, a student at New Paltz college, was firm in explaining why she feels a specific date in April should be set for Easter.

Of some 20 persons questioned as they shopped in Kingston, beneath Thursday's un-sunny skies, nearly all agreed that Easter, with snow on the ground and a chill in the air, is "just not right."

Bearing in mind the recurring question of setting an April date for Easter, which — like the weather—people discuss but do nothing about, this reporter took the matter to the people.

"It should come in April," a High Falls woman declared. "We always buy our spring clothes at Easter time and it's always nice to wear new clothes on Easter."

"But when it comes early, like this year, you can't wear spring clothes because it's too chilly."

We either have to wear old clothes; buy a special outfit; or freeze to death in our spring clothes."

Her friend agrees: "Especially with little children. Their clothes are so expensive and they grow out of them so quickly. But you just can't let them freeze in light clothes, so you have to buy something just to wear on Easter, even though you know they won't be able to wear it next winter."

These ladies, like most of those questioned, had ready answers and strong opinions on the subject. Also like most of those questioned, they were unwilling to match their names with their opinions.

"After all," one man — who gave a Hurley Avenue address—said, "if my neighbor disagrees with what I think it just might ruin a very good friendship."

And some people do disagree. Like Michael Rohr, a teacher from Wallkill.

"I think that to Christians, the important thing is the idea of Easter, not the exact date of it. And since the present method of determining Easter's date goes back to A.D. 325, it would seem historically the 'Christian way' to determine when Easter takes place."

Rohr, seemingly well-versed on the matter, was one of the few persons able to trace how the chancy method of determining Easter's date first came about.

Follows Full Moon

"I think it was the first Nice Council, in the year 325. They decided it was the Sunday after the first full moon after the Vernal Equinox — that's on March 21. If the full moon falls on a Sunday, it's one week later. . . . And incidentally, they figure the full moon by calendar laws and not by the actual full moon you see in the sky."

Another who supports the idea of an untied date for Easter is the Rev. James W. Cook pastor of Overlook Methodist Church in Woodstock.

"I realize there are advantages and disadvantages no matter which side of the matter you take, but there is to me a definite advantage in having a varying date."

"For one thing, having it on differing Sundays does away with the thought of Easter as a spring festival, since it can come in cold weather as well as spring weather. . . . And this keeps more of the idea of a religious holiday than a commercial holiday."

Dorothy Klocke, of New Paltz, was one who disagreed with the Rev. Mr. Cook.

"It is commercial," she declared. "I think it should be held sometime in April. As far as keeping it from becoming too commercial."

Intone Easter Prayers For Peace, and Justice

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

From the serene St. Peter's Basilica in Rome to the battle-scarred rice paddies of Vietnam, Christians the world over observed Holy Saturday today in preparation for the Easter celebration of Christ's resurrection. They prayed for peace in Vietnam and social justice.

Holy Saturday recalls the period of Christ's entombment and leads to the rejoicing of His resurrection. The Holy Saturday rites included the "blessing of the new fire," which starts a three-hour evening vigil ceremony in St. Peter's Basilica led by Pope Paul VI.

Mass of Joy

The vigil service will be climaxed with a Papal Mass of joy shortly before midnight commemorating the resurrection of Christ. At the same time, the bells of Rome's 400 churches will ring, led by the 10-ton master bell atop St. Peter's Basilica at the Vatican.

About 10,000 Easter Pilgrims were in Old Jerusalem.

In the United States, Americans will celebrate Christ's resurrection in hundreds of sunrise services on mountaintops, in dark cottages, in tiny churches and in huge auditoriums.

The Pope will celebrate two Masses Easter Sunday. At noon he will deliver his Easter message in which he will announce that he has prepared an encyclical on social justice.

In Good Friday services, many Christians in the United States took note of contemporary issues and the war in Vietnam.

Four Methodist churches in Chicago sponsored a "Good Friday fast" to protest slum housing.

The war in Vietnam was the theme of services at two Lutheran churches in New York City.

"Christ was crucified in this neighborhood this year," cried more than 200 Christians in Washington who followed such symbolic stations of the cross as racial strife, poverty, slum housing, crime and war through the poverty-stricken Mount Pleasant section of the capital.

In Milwaukee, Irish-born Michael Cullen has been sitting alone in a Roman Catholic cathedral, awaiting Easter morning and the end of his fast and vigil in protest against the war in Vietnam. Since Tuesday, the ex-seminarian has taken only water and a half-bowl of rice.

Come Home

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and her daughter, Lynda Bird, flew back to Washington Friday night from a Virgin Islands vacation to join the President for the Easter weekend.

For those disavowing their finery in the Easter parades, the weatherman said the weather would be warm and cloudy through most of the nation Sunday with showers in some areas.

Outdoor Church Delays Opening

Community Drive-In Church which was scheduled to open Easter Sunday will not start services until April 2 due to soft ground at the 9W Drive-In.

Easter Sunday services will be held at Old Dutch Church which sponsors the community service at 9:30 and 11 a. m. Sermon will be Moment of Truth.

Two Persons Are Fatally Injured Near Po'keepsie

Dutchess County early today recorded its seventh and eighth highway fatalities of 1967 after a car operated by a 23-year-old Wappingers Falls man careened out of control on a curve and crashed into a tree off Route 9 north of Spring Road, Town of Poughkeepsie.

Two others were critically injured in the mishap which occurred at about 1:35 a. m.

It was the third double-death highway accident in that county this year.

Fishkill State Police and Poughkeepsie Town Police identified the dead and injuries suffered by the victims as:

Robert Hoerning, Jr., 23, of 65 Paggi Terrace, Wappingers Falls, owner and driver of the car, who suffered multiple internal injuries. He was instantly killed.

Miss Marie Erdo, 23, of Vassar Road, Arlington, who sustained head and internal injuries. She was pronounced dead on arrival at Vassar Hospital.

Critically injured in the early morning accident were, Richard C. Smith, 21, of Losee Road, Wappingers Falls, and Dawn K. Hinkle, 20, of Route 82, Fishkill. Smith was admitted to Vassar Hospital suffering a fractured leg, multiple contusions, and cerebral concussion. Miss Hinkle was taken to St. Francis Hospital. She sustained fractures of the left hip, arm and left rib cage and a possible skull fracture.

Investigators said Hoerning was driving north on Route 9 (South Road) about one-tenth of a mile north of Spring Road, Town of Poughkeepsie, accompanied by his three friends when the car failed to negotiate a curve, veered off the new pavement and hit a tree.

Dr. Chester H. Golding, Wappingers Falls, Dutchess county medical examiner, investigated the mishap at the scene with troopers and town police.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODIE ISHMAEL

THE LORD IS RISEN!

It was a glorious day, that first Easter. A day full of wonderment and hope for those who loved Jesus. He appeared three times before his disciples. Mary Magdalene saw him and believed. Thomas doubted but was convinced.

Jesus met Cleopas and another disciple on the road to Emmaus that first Easter Sunday afternoon. They did not recognize him. He pretended not to know of the recent tragic events, which they did not understand. He explained the full meaning of the prophecies to them and later on at supper in Emmaus, made himself known to them and vanished.

"And they said one to another, did not our heart burn within us, while he talked with us by the way, and while he opened to us the scriptures?"

Easter Sunrise Services

Easter dawn services are scheduled in a number of county areas by church youth groups and ministerial associations. A partial listing follows.

Evangelical Churches

An Easter Sunrise Service originating from the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, 90 Miller's Lane, Kingston will be broadcast over WBAZ, Sunday 7 to 8 a. m. sponsored by the Hudson Valley Evangelical Ministerial Association with participants from churches of this group.

The Rev. Wesley Wales, president of the Ministerial Association, will be the master of ceremonies. The music will be provided by the Kingston Church of the Nazarene, Elmendorf and Wiltwyck Avenue; Bethel Assembly of God, Esopus Avenue; Teen Challenge Institute of Missions, Rhinebeck; and the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, George Street. The song leader, Gilbert Hickson, the organist, and Jane Hickson, the pianist.

The Rev. Robert Vinson will open the service with prayer followed by Leonard Auchmody of Teen Challenge, singing, The Unveiled Christ. Other musical numbers on the program will be a ladies trio from The Alliance Church, singing, Wounded For Me. Jane Hickson, Bethel Assembly of God, an accordion solo, Hallelujah For the Cross, Alliance Quartet singing, Living For Jesus.

Donna Younce of the Kingston Church of the Nazarene, will sing, The Holy City. Her father, the Rev. Thomas Younce, will present the Easter message. A Cross or A Crown. Young people from the various churches will give words of testimony. Prayer will be offered for the sick and those shut in, by the Rev. John Donaldson, of Binnewater Chapel.

Congregational hymns to be sung during the program are: "Christ Arose," "Hallelujah, What A Savior" closing with "He Lives." Scripture reading will be The Resurrection Story by the Rev. Oliver Wirth. The Rev. George Osborne will conclude the service with prayer.

Port Ewen Area

The youth fellowships of Port Ewen Methodist and Reformed Churches will conduct Easter sunrise services 5:45 a. m. at Hidden Harbor Yacht Club. Breakfast will be served after service in the clubroom.

The Rev. Eric Forsberg of Olivebridge extends an invitation to the public to attend.

Shady Methodist

The seventh annual Easter dawn service will be held at 6:30 a. m. Easter Sunday morning in the Methodist Church of Shady. The Rev. Paul C. Hoyt, pastor of the Ashokan, Glenford, and West Hurley Methodist Churches, will be the guest speaker.

Following the service, a light breakfast of beverage and hot chest buns will be served in the church annex to all who attend. The church choir is in charge of the annual service with H. Phillips Eighmey as chairman. Members of the choir will take part in the worship service, will present special music under the direction of Mrs. Edward Balmer, church organist and choir director, and will serve the breakfast following the service.

The congregations of the Willow Methodist Church and the Willow Wesleyan Methodist have been invited to join in the service, and the general public may attend.

Lutheran Groups Organized Here

Local branches of the Lutheran Brotherhood have been organized at Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer and Trinity Lutheran Church, this city.

Officers of the fraternal insurance society at Redeemer Church are Mrs. Donald Zimmerman, president; Mrs. Henry Wickman, vice president; Mrs. Thora Molenhauer, secretary; and Mrs. Ernest Heppner, treasurer. The Rev. Dr. David C. Gaise is pastor.

The Rev. John H. Frenssen is pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church. Lutheran Brotherhood has more than 3,300 local branches from coast to coast which conduct fraternal activities on the local level.

Lutheran Brotherhood, from its home offices in Minneapolis, has contributed $809,700 to its branches during the past five years for such activities, including more than $192,500 in 1966.

THE THORNS THAT BLOSSOMED

There is an ancient legend which tells how a monk in the days of long ago found the crown of thorns that had circled the Saviour's brow. He laid it on the altar in the chapel on Good Friday; and he and his flock looked with reverent awe upon the dreadful relic, so rugged and cruel, with its awful stains of blood.

Very early on Easter morning the monk came to the church to remove the thorn-crown, which would be so strangely out of harmony with the bright thoughts of Easter Day. When he opened the door he found the chapel filled with a wondrous perfume. The early sunlight, shining through the eastern window, fell upon the altar. There the monk saw the crown of thorns still living, but it had burst into roses of rarest loveliness and sweetest fragrance.

The segment of hours that began at noon on that first Good Friday and culminated at the crack of dawn on that first Easter contains both the blackest and the brightest moments of history. The crucifixion was a ghastly affair. It seemed as if goodness had lost out; and all that this Galilean stood for had come to a tragic and final end. It almost is impossible for us to imagine the gloom of gloom that settled over the hearts of that little huddle of men after their leader had been crucified.

But Easter morning broke over the world with a new kind of hope. The crown of thorns had indeed blossomed into roses. The whole wonderful project hadn't ended—as those men and women had thought! The gloom that had settled over their minds and hearts was put to rout by the unbelievable good news that the tomb was empty; and a risen Lord had appeared to some of the faithful!

Life serves up to us many a discouragement. Often it seems that there is no ray of hope. But the faith that there is more to life than what we see, and that somehow the soul is not subject to the tyranny of dust — this faith sustains and empowers us when we sorely are pressed.

The good news of Easter is a heart coming upon roses where once there were thorns. Writes Bishop Gerald Kennedy: "The great thing about the Gospel is that when you begin with the Cross, you end up with the Resurrection. You may start out with burdens, but you come out with freedom."

Classis Calls For Positive, Modern Approach

The Reformed Church Classis of Mid-Hudson met in Spring Session at the Flatbush Reformed Church this Wednesday.

Devotions at the evening session were conducted by the Rev. Harold Schadevall, who suggested in his talk that the Christian Church is called to take a more positive stand in these days — away from the emphasis on doing without things, and opposition to factors in modern community life, to standing for a positive commitment to the manner of life commended to the Church in the life and work of its Master.

In assessing the state of religion in the Reformed Churches in the current year, the Rev. William Babinsky of New Hackensack Reformed Church, president, drew attention to the fact that a number of smaller churches scattered throughout the area of Dutchess and Ulster counties needed positive guidance from the church at large in the coordination of church life and activities for fruitful ends in terms of the total Christian purpose.

The session of the Classis expressed its definite disapproval of the expansion of the lottery drawings in New York State from four to eight, feeling as always that if there are good ends to be achieved from the proceeds of lotteries, they can be better achieved in other ways, and that the extension of this wasteful method will only, at long last, prove a more expensive, more wasteful, and less efficient means of finance than any other method that might be devised, through administrative, police, and welfare costs all of which are bound to be increased with every extension of this system in the State.

Christians Set Easter Services On Way of Cross

JERUSALEM, Jordan Sector (AP) — Western Christian churches observed Holy Saturday today with services of blessings of the fire by the Stone of Unction.

A procession wound from the chapel of St. Mary Magdalene past holy shrines to the chapel of the Annunciation. Pontifical matins were to begin at midnight in the chapel of St. Mary Magdalene and the German Lutheran Church scheduled a sunrise Easter service Sunday at the garden tomb.

About 10,000 Easter pilgrims were in Old Jerusalem. Some wore the blue berets of the U.N. troops who supervise the zone dividing this city between Israel and Jordan.

Pilgrims carrying crosses walked in rain along the Way of the Cross Friday as Jordanian desert troops guarded Jerusalem's shrines. Father Linus Cammello, Franciscan custodian of the Holy Land, led the pilgrims through Arab bazaars on the route Jesus took to Calvary.

The rocky hillside has been covered with old mosaics and Calvary is now a chapel inside the church of the Holy Sepulcher.

Flags of diplomatic legations were at half-staff to mark Christ's death.

Teen Challenge Program Slated At Area Church

Teen Challenge Institute of Missions is presenting the film Youth In A Fix, at Bethel Assembly of God, 11 Esopus Avenue, off Albany Avenue Extension, Sunday 7:30 p. m.

In addition to the film presenting the problems of drug addiction, will be the following young men rescued from drugs: Wasul Tsniak, a former pusher; Louie Correa and Leonard Auchmody. They will be presenting their testimony of their past life and how they were rescued by the power of Christ. The Rev. Edmond Cooksey, superintendent of Teen Challenge Institute of Missions will direct the program. The Rev. Robert R. Vinson, pastor, invites all to attend the service.

Officers of the fraternal insurance society at Redeemer Church are Mrs. Donald Zimmerman, president; Mrs. Henry Wickman, vice president; Mrs. Thora Molenhauer, secretary; and Mrs. Ernest Heppner, treasurer. The Rev. Dr. David C. Gaise is pastor.

The Rev. John H. Frenssen is pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church. Lutheran Brotherhood has more than 3,300 local branches from coast to coast which conduct fraternal activities on the local level.

KY: ALLY, OR IS HE USING US?

With some basic and apparent differences between the two, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky is making sounds like he wants to be the George Washington of his country. First, he wants to win the war, then, it becomes quite obvious, he will run as South Vietnam's (or will it be just Vietnam?) first President under its new Constitution. George Washington, of course, had to win his own war, with the help only of his countrymen, whereas — and here's the real difference — Mr. Ky wants the United States to turn the trick for him.

This cocky North Vietnamese, who now heads the South Vietnamese government, made it quite plain at the Guam conference that he wants to escalate the war, and there's only one way to do that, and that's for the United States to ship more men and war materiel over to his country. Also, we'll have to do most of the fighting for him. As for the Presidency, he didn't declare himself at Guam, but he doesn't have to. He has everything going for him, in that direction.

All of which brings his aspirations and those of most Americans — to a head-on collision. The United States, regardless of what one believes is its mission in Vietnam, at least isn't there to win a war for Premier Ky, and all hands in this country could agree on that. Mr. Ky's desire to win the war is a noble one — with that there shouldn't be any quarrel—but his methods are open to question.

Escalation, which he says he wants, only means more of our boys losing their lives, and no assurance that the further bloodshed will place him on his throne. A continued search for peace, through honorable bargaining rather than by a continued war, is to be preferred. President Johnson has confirmed a Hanoi report that he sought a peace discussion and was turned down. He says he will keep trying, which bears evidence that the course he prefers is not the warlike one of Premier Ky. In fact, LBJ became so displeased with the rantings of the Vietnamese that he got him to do a toned-down version of his views. Actually, the Premier didn't change his position one whit. He only put in less violent words.

The South Vietnamese Premier continues to call for what amounts to unconditional surrender. He and his chief of staff, Lieut. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, insisted at Guam, as they have been doing right along, that there can be no coalition government between theirs and the National Liberation Front, which is the Viet Cong. If Ky has his way, then, these people would live under him, but have no voice in government. We're sure President Johnson would not settle for such a situation. As long as the Premier gives utterance to his bombastic and unyielding views, it will be that much more difficult to get Hanoi to agree to a peace conference. On the one hand, he asks us to win the war for him, and on the other, he throws a monkey wrench into our efforts.

There was some question whether Mr. Johnson was going to invite Mr. Ky to Guam. Much better he hadn't since, while the President seemingly was looking for roads to peace, the Premier was rattling the sabre, the United States', that is. We must be careful how much we let him use us.

Now it is Prof. John Kenneth Galbraith who seeks to convince Americans that there is no parallel between the aggressive aims of Mao Tse-tung and Ho Chi Minh in Southeast Asia and Hitler's European ambitions of more than two decades ago.

This has long been the contention of Prof. Arthur Schlesinger who, like Galbraith, is an ardent partisan of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and an influential member of his "government-in-exile."

The good professors, probably, are also great admirers of philosopher George Santayana who was himself once an outstanding teacher at Harvard. Yet so uncritical—and unscholarly—is their opposition to President Johnson and his policies in Vietnam that they conveniently ignore Santayana's warning that people who fail to learn from history are doomed to repeat it.

Of course, there is a historic parallel—even a deadly parallel, if you wish—between the events and conditions that resulted in World War II and the current conflict in Vietnam that may well decide the fate of all of Southeast Asia.

The dictators are new, to be sure. The confrontation of the forces of freedom and totalitarianism has shifted from Europe to Asia. But in the last war, as now, the United States is engaged in combat with aggressors whose ultimate aim is to destroy the Free World.

Three decades ago there were also well-meaning (and not so well-meaning) professors and politicians who were convinced they could appease Hitler by sacrificing first a bit of Danzig and then a little bit of Austria, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

They were tragically wrong and for a simple reason: The appetites of dictators, whatever their color or creed, grow with appeasement. Moreover, dictators always mean what they say.

Thus Hitler achieved with too much success his promise to make heads roll. He ravaged Europe and nearly became its undisputed master. Stalin's massacres are still vivid in our memory. And is there any rational reason to assume that his successors in the Kremlin no longer conspire to "bury" the Free World?

Yet the Galbraiths and Schlesingers ask us in the name of a mythical "realpolitik" to forget recent history and Santayana's warning.

They propose to feed the dictators chunks of Vietnam—and then, perhaps, other bits of Southeast Asia—in the hope that this will appease their appetites.

There is, of course, no reason to doubt even for a moment the sincerity of the professors of the good intentions of their hero, Sen. Kennedy. They are obviously distressed by the Vietnamese tragedy. (Is this not true of all rational and normal men and women?) But their insistence that the United States should stop the bombing of North Vietnam even before Ho Chi Minh has agreed to peace negotiations is a sad reminder of Prime Minister Chamberlain's hopeless attempt to appease Hitler at Munich.

What reason is there to believe that Mao Tse-tung and Ho Chi Minh will succumb to appeasement any more than Hitler did? After all, they are also dedicated to the destruction of the Free World.

This is not to say that President Johnson is inflexible. There is always a need for constructive criticism of his policies, foreign and domestic. By all means, then, let the professors and senators, including Kennedy and J. W. Fulbright, "think the unthinkable." But let there be no illusions about appeasing the dictators.

The graveyards of the world are full of victims who suffered the consequences of similar "unthinkable" thoughts.

Your Dental Health

Understanding Between Dentist, Patient Is Vital
By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One day at surgical grand rounds, a group of surgeons proudly presented the case of a man whose leg was put back together again after being almost torn off in a shop accident.

To restore the leg, heroic and dramatic efforts were needed from surgeons and patient: muscles, ligaments, vessels and nerves were joined; transplants, shunts and grafts were used. There were repeated operations and many months of recovery. The patient spent about a year and a half in and out of the hospital.

Now he stood on the stage of the amphitheater before a group of students and faculty with two legs, but the repaired one shorter, thinner and scarred; needing support to balance himself; unable to walk without crutches.

When the presentation was over, many questions were asked, but one surgeon in the audience struck a philosophical note: "Was it really worthwhile to save this leg? Wouldn't this man be better off if the mangled leg had been removed and replaced with a prosthesis? This treatment would have required only a few weeks for total rehabilitation, including surgery, convalescence and getting used to an artificial leg."

This question, "Is it worthwhile?" should perhaps be asked more often by many patients of their dentists. "I am a very broken-hearted woman," writes Mrs. C. G. "My periodontist scraped and curetted my teeth and they felt great. But then he cut my gums away so that I now have large spaces between my teeth. Everything I eat collects in those spaces and I have to spend hours cleaning them with special gadgets. They look so awful I can't smile."

"On top of that, my bite was ground, and my front teeth are thin and have a knife edge. I've spent more money than I could afford and now I'm in a bigger mess than before. I may not lose my teeth, but I'm about to lose my mind."

Mrs. M. C. G. must be exaggerating a bit. Treatment of pyorrhea, or periodontitis as it is now called, is a vital part of preventive and curative dentistry. Specialists who do this work have produced amazing results.

But many dentists feel, somewhat the way Mrs. M. C. G. does, that very often treatment is too severe. They maintain that in most cases choice of treatment should be conservative, particularly in regard to gum surgery and tooth-grinding.

Sometimes dissatisfaction with results is a patient's own fault. Before any major periodontal work is started, there should be a thorough dialogue between patient and dentist until complete understanding is reached. This must include diagnosis, ideal treatment and compromise treatment. The latter means special consideration of age, mental and physical health, money, time, inclination and results to be expected in terms of prognosis and cosmetics.

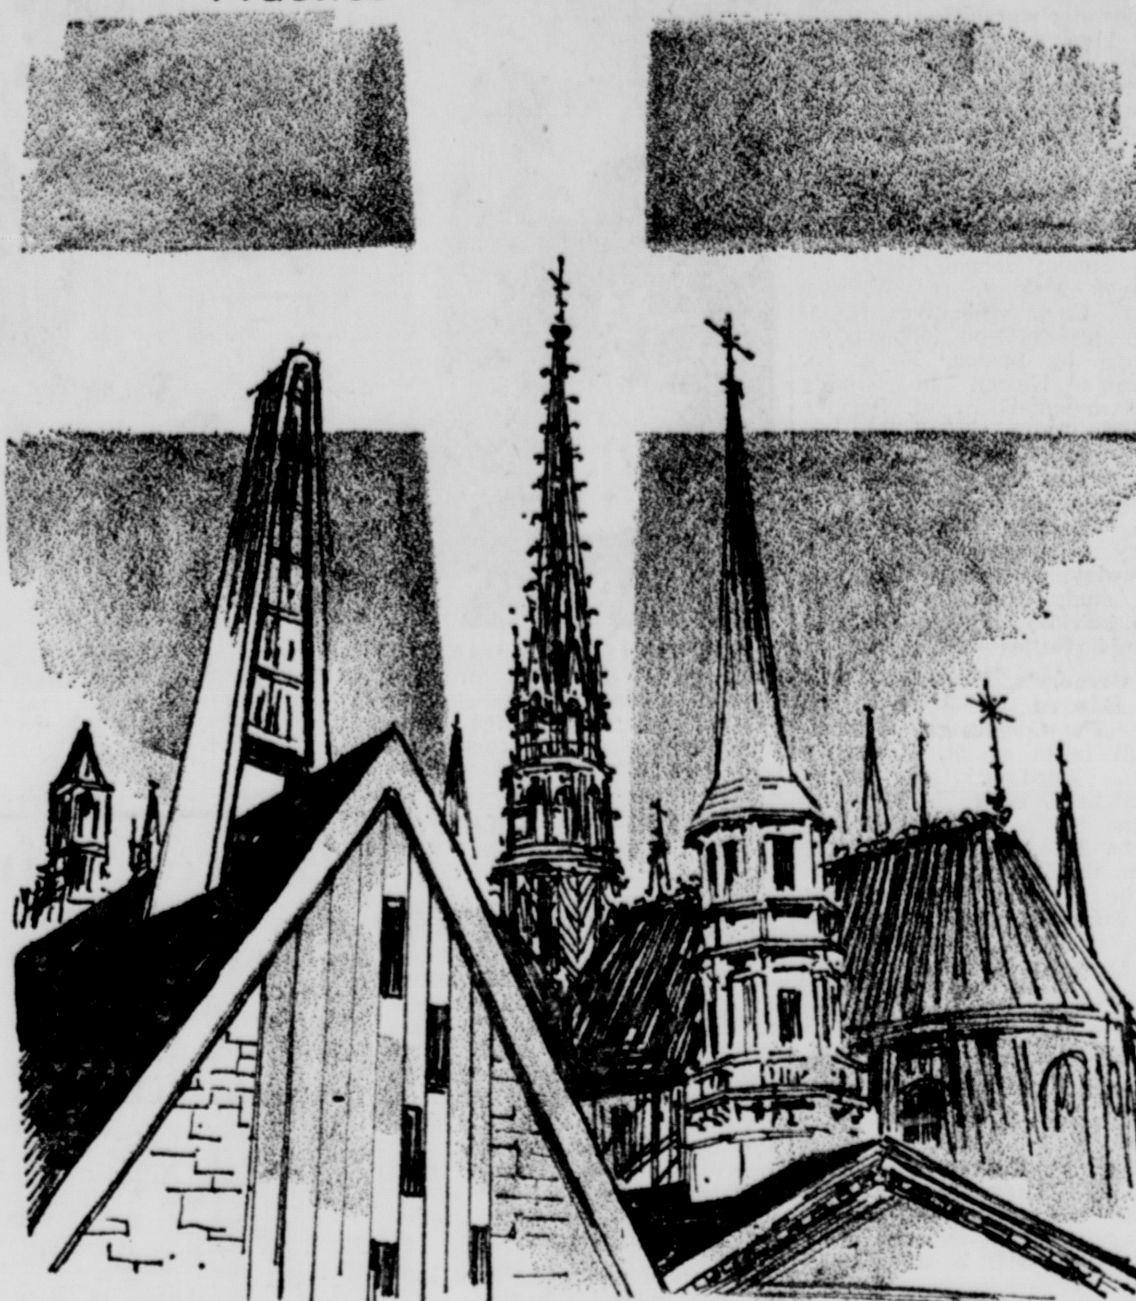

Further understanding can be gained by consultation with your regular dentist. He knows your teeth, your health habits and many pertinent facts that might influence results of periodontal treatment.

Please send your questions about dental health to Dr. Lawrence in care of The Freeman. While he cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Instead of production controls, price supports and payments to farmers, they want guaranteed marketing loans from private banks. Legislation to this effect has been introduced by Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, Missouri Republican. Marketing loans would make farm operation a wholly local affair.

It has been 20 years since the $600 exemption was set by Congress on internal revenue taxes. Rep. Clarence E. Miller, Ohio Republican, has introduced legislation to increase it to $1,000. That would simply keep pace with the cost of maintaining a family in the last 20 years.

Practice Your Faith This Easter

Washington News

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Observers who have been around the country find that many Americans have little patience with either the defenders or the critics of U.S. policy in Vietnam. The argument confuses them badly.

There could be one overriding reason for that. Consciously or otherwise, both sides conduct the argument at levels and in terms removed from the real heart of the matter.

For all it's worth, the Johnson administration never has found the way to tell the American people persuasively why we are in Vietnam.

The government's stated objective is to prevent free South Vietnam from falling under Communist control.

But our concern is not just for the beleaguered South Vietnamese. The broader aspect of our objective is to block the spread of Red tyranny in widening circles through Southeast Asia and beyond. This government fears that at some point in that spread the balance of world power would tilt against the whole free world—and endanger its security and its liberty.

President Johnson can have no proof this would happen if Saigon fell to the Reds. But neither he nor any other president is likely to resolve the doubt in any way except in favor of the United States and other free lands.

In the prelude to World War II, the British and French saw the balance tilt against them after resolving similar doubts the other way. They fought the biggest war in history.

If the President has not made this large concern clear and persuasive, his critics have muddled the Vietnam issue even worse by talking of peace and "negotiations" entirely apart from our own objectives.

Our goal is not peace as such. That could have been had, on Hanoi's terms, without our sending a single soldier to Vietnam. Nor did we enter the war in order to seek negotiations at the earliest moment. Negotiations are a means, not an end.

War is embarked upon, at the cost of human lives, for political objectives. Critics may honestly and openly oppose those objectives, as some do in this case. But it is hardly fair to call for an end to the war, on humanitarian grounds, while hiding a total disdain for its objectives.

To argue for peace, for negotiations, without reference to our goals is to concede a complete lack of concern over the prospect that South Vietnam might fall under Hanoi's rule. It is to yield too easily to a Red objective that free South Vietnamese and their U.S. allies have shed much blood to prevent.

There should be no pretense, no window-dressing to conceal that lack of concern. Chairman William Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee says we should "compromise with the Viet Cong." All negotiation other than dictated surrender terms is compromise. The large questions, begged by him, are:

What kind of compromise? And who would we really be dealing with when and if we talked to the Viet Cong?

In any talks, obviously, our maximum objective has to be to fulfill our purpose totally—to keep the Reds from controlling Saigon in any important measure. Our minimum goal must be to deny the enemy his full objective—rule over Saigon.

Somewhere between these poles, we may—if dealing from proper strength—realize a major part of what we want without getting everything. Anything less short of that would be tantamount to failure on our side. It could promise to save nothing for the free Vietnamese.

Critics who argue for negotiations at nearly any cost often do this in the name of compassion for the victims of war. But their compassion seems to be divisible. They appear to say that the kinds of death they find emotionally abhorrent (by bombing or napalm) are somehow worse than other kinds. Yet the guns and knives of the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong manage to kill tens of thousands of free men just as thoroughly.

Negotiations which would open a "compromised" South Vietnamese people to the demonstrated capacity of Hanoi for revenge and repression can hardly be looked upon as a desirable end-product by fully compassionate men. Nor would such a result serve the larger, balance-of-power concerns for which Americans are dying in Vietnam.

Do You Remember

By Sophie Miller

There is much talk nowadays about the census of Kingston. I have a little booklet with the official census of 1900 of the largest cities of the United States. I see Kingston listed as 24,535; and Poughkeepsie as 24,029. They say Poughkeepsie now has somewhere around 45,000 people. I do not think Kingston reaches 30,000 in true figures.

Miss Nancy King Edwards of the Convent of St. Anne's at 287 Broadway, Kingston, writes to me from time to time. It seems the Junior League girls called up the other day and wanted to know how old the buildings were.

Miss Edwards says one building was owned by the Staples family, and the other house by the Terry brick people. Perhaps readers may know the history of these interesting Broadway buildings, and can let Nancy or the Convent of St. Anne know.

Mrs. Maud Kaprelian of Kingston wrote that she saw the Good-Old-Days magazine in which an old post card of the Central Fire Station and story on it, which I wrote, appeared. It seems Mrs. Kaprelian's note has a printed pencil sketch of a rose and butterfly, signed Ann, which was done by a shut-in. It is printed on the card that Ann Adams the artist who had polio and works with a pencil between her teeth.

The rose with all its many petals and leaves, and the butterfly, are carefully and well-drawn and shaded. It takes Ann two months to do an original.

I was given three interesting postcards of the Hudson-Fulton celebration of 1909. These were from Mrs. Harry Lee's mother's collection. Those were the days the Hudson River and Rondout Creek and Rondout itself played a big part in this celebration, with special electric lights and bunting, parades and speeches in all the cities along the Hudson.

Q—What state had the largest population in the first U. S. census in 1790?

A—Virginia, 747,610.

Q—What animal bears its young in litters all of the same sex?

A—The nine-banded armadillo or peba.

Q—What causes tides?

A—The gravitational attraction of the sun and the moon upon the earth.

Q—Who was the first woman employed by the U. S. government?

A—Miss Jennie Douglas, hired by the Treasurer of the United States on Oct. 9, 1862, to cut and trim currency.

Q—What is the scientific name for one who talks in his sleep?

A—Somnoliquist.

Q—What is the origin of amber?

A—Amber is a yellowish brown substance formed by the sap, or resin, in the pine trees of northern Europe millions of years ago. Most of the world's supply of amber is gathered along the shores of the Baltic Sea.

Business Week in Review

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Additional economic indicators showed during the week that business lagged in the first quarter of 1967. But the head of the Federal Reserve Board predicted improvement later in the year.

Automobile sales in mid-March declined, steel demand slipped, durable goods orders fell in February and the rise in personal income slowed in February.

William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, said, "A resumption in economic activity is the most likely prospect as 1967 progresses."

Tax Return Would Aid

He told the Senate Finance Committee that the return of business investment tax credits would help avoid the possibility of hesitation in the economy in coming months.

Martin said abatement of inflationary pressures has permitted the Federal Reserve to resume vigorous expansion of bank reserves and that the economy can take a faster pace of investment by business without spurring new pressures on prices.

Personal Savings Gain

He added that these factors, along with a high and rising rate of personal savings, should provide "sufficient funds to accommodate business financing requirements and an adequate volume of home financing."

Martin also supported President Johnson's proposal for a 6 per cent surcharge on income taxes later this year.

Later, the Senate Finance Committee voted to restore the 7 per cent business investment tax credit but on far less liberal terms than approved by the House.

Rejects Tax Credit

The Senate committee voted to deny the investment tax credit and accelerated depreciation for all items during the suspension period that began last Oct. 10. The House bill would allow retroactive claims for the tax breaks for items ordered but not delivered during the suspension period.

Sales of U.S.-made cars in mid-March fell 19.6 per cent to 191,661 from 238,349 a year earlier. General Motors reported a decline of 20.5 per cent in its sales. Ford 23.3 per cent. Chrysler 10.8 per cent and American Motors 5.1 per cent.

Steel mills reported demand is continuing to weaken as they move into a period when purchases normally climb seasonally.

Steel Orders Decline

Reports were that orders taken so far in March are falling off from the slow pace of February or, at best, holding even or up only slightly. Steelmakers have been lowering their estimates of first and second quarter shipments as more customers began trimming steel inventories and as users such as auto and airplane makers find their needs still declining.

Durable goods orders in February declined 0.8 per cent to $22.2 billion from $22.4 billion in January the Commerce Department reported.

Personal Income Is High

Personal income rose to a record annual rate of $609.9 billion in February but the increase was only $2.4 billion, compared with a $5.7 billion gain in January.

Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., a leading New York bank, cut its prime interest rate on business loans to 5½ per cent from 5½ per cent. Some other banks around the country followed. Chase Manhattan Bank, New York City's largest, had reduced its basic lending rate charged the most credit-worthy customers to 5½ per cent from 6 per cent last Jan. 27. But most other major banks, including Morgan Guaranty, cut their prime rates then by only a quarter percentage point to 5½ per cent.

Report on New Tools

Orders for new machine tools rose 10 per cent in February to $112.6 million from $102.3 million in January but were down 32 per cent from $165.9 million in February 1966.

The Labor Department's cost-of-living index edged up 0.1 point in February to a record 114.8 per cent of the 1957-59 average and was 3.2 points, or 2.9 per cent, above the year-earlier level.

However, the department noted that living costs in the latest four-month period for which statistics were available had increased only 0.3 per cent, the smallest rise over four months since the period ending October 1965.

Best U.S. Surplus

The Commerce Department reported that a 4 per cent drop in imports during February gave the United States its best surplus in 11 months.

Exports, although down seven-tenths of one per cent from January, were the third highest on record at $2,601,200,000. Imports dropped to $2,204,100,000, giving the United States a surplus of exports over imports of $397.1 million.

Automobile production for the week fell 18 per cent to an estimated 133,700, partly because of Good Friday closings of plants. From 152,830 the previous week and 196,785 a year ago.

Steel production during the week moved up 0.5 per cent to 2,476,000 tons from 2,464,000 tons the previous week.

Bomb Blasts 70, Meant For General

HONG KONG (AP) — Travelers from Canton today said 70 persons were killed or wounded this week when a bomb meant to assassinate a Red Chinese army general exploded at a rally in support of Mao Tse-tung. They said the general survived.

"There were 30 or more bodies on the ground shortly after the explosion and many more were severely wounded," reported one Chinese who said he went to the site after the blast.

Some of the casualties were said to have been children trampled when the crowd of several thousand panicked.

The general, who was not named, reportedly had been sent to the southern Chinese city to suppress opponents of Mao in the Chinese Communist chairman's prolonged struggle to gain unchallenged control of Red China.

One traveler said a meningitis epidemic has killed thousands of persons in Kwangtung Province, of which Canton is the capital.

He quoted a Cantonese doctor as saying the disease spread to farmers and villagers from the thousands of teen-age Maoist Red Guards who flocked to the province during the winter.

The report was not confirmed elsewhere and a number of travelers from Canton said they had not heard of an epidemic.

resolution use of the 50 beds in the hospital would be available "in order to give Ulster County taxpayers full value for their tax dollar."

In order to insure full utilization of the hospital, "all 50 beds of said institution must be filled," the resolution states. It recommends to Ulster County Board of Health and Ulster County Welfare Department "to fill all unoccupied beds with persons in need of medical attention and rehabilitation regardless of existing New York State limitations set for this institution."

Under the resolution calling for a county charter form of government, the chairman in co-operation with the majority and minority leaders is directed to appoint a 15-person committee. The members of the committee to be selected from all parts of the county and "from all walks of life." No profession could have more than three representatives on the committee.

The committee is to be appointed by April 30, and under the resolution would be directed to report to the Board of Supervisors with a proposed county charter by September 30, 1967.

$5,000 for Expenses

Under the resolution the sum of $5,000 would be available for committee expenses.

The position of county executive would be created, such official to be elected by the qualified voters of the county.

For some time it has been held that county business has grown to such an extent that it has become "big business" and there is need for a county executive to coordinate all departments and activities of county business.

Both resolutions will be moved for action at the April 13 meeting of the Board of Supervisors.

commercial, well we still have all the candy and the Easter bunny and the new hats and all. "Besides," she added with a shiver, "this year it's going to be too cold, and don't like Easter in cold weather."

Miss Klocke's companion said he didn't care, "one way or the other."

April, But When

But if Easter were set on a certain April date, which one would be best.

Few had any ready answers, although Martin Cade, of New York City and Woodstock, did feel there was one answer.

"It doesn't necessarily mean an April date—although I wish it would. But it seems to me there is some method of determining exactly when Christ was crucified—I mean, it was on the eve before a Jewish holiday, wasn't it? If they could trace back somehow and determine when this was, they could make Easter the next Sunday."

Practice of Pagans

But whether or not this is possible doesn't matter, at least according to one Woodstock man who preferred to remain unnamed.

"Easter doesn't have anything to do with Jesus Christ anyway," he explained. "The way I understand it, the celebration called 'Easter' dates back to some pagan practice of welcoming the arrival of the god of spring . . . so if anything, Easter is about the most unreligious thing we can celebrate."

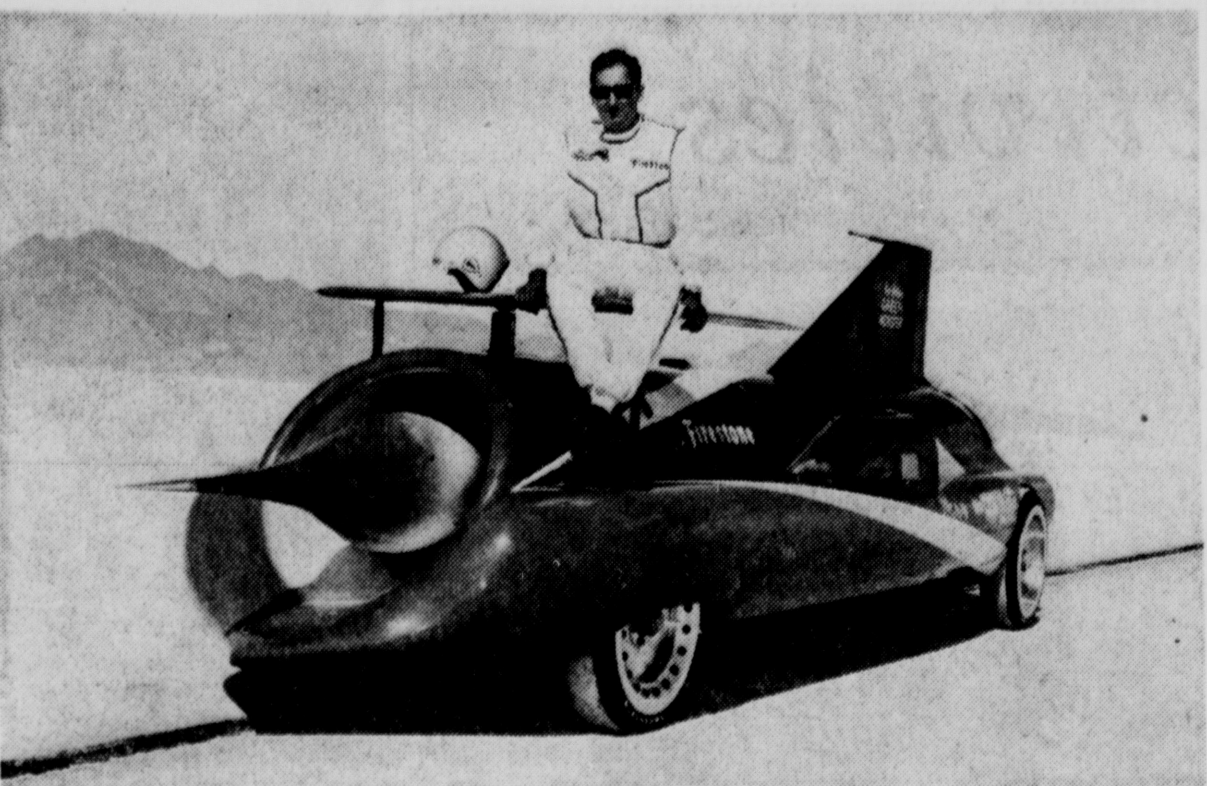

If we really wanted to worship Christ's resurrection, you'd think we'd at least change the name . . . We've even kept the name those pagans used."

AUTO YOUTH SPEAKER — Art Arfons, holder of the world's land speed record three times in 1964 and 1965, will attend the final session of the Kingston Automotive Youth Program Tuesday at Kingston High School.

Speed King Is To Appear for Meeting at KHS

The fifth and final session of the Kingston Automotive Youth Program should prove to be one of the most interesting yet.

Art Arfons, holder of the world's land speed record three times in 1964 and 1965, is scheduled to attend this session Tuesday night, March 28 at the Kingston High School Auditorium.

Arfons' local appearance is made possible through the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co.

The jet-powered "Green Monster" car, shown in the accompanying photo, is Arfons' creation. The wing function automatically in keeping the "Monster" from becoming airborne.

Following a week of weight distribution tests on the Salt Flats, at speeds in excess of 400-MPH, Arfons returned to Akron to make alterations on the car before returning to Utah for possible runs for the record.

Arfons is expected to relate some of his experiences as a race driver and also show a few special action films.

Roland A. Augustine, local insurance dealer, will discuss the why's and facts of car insurance. Participants in the program have been encouraged to invite their parents and friends to the concluding session, starting at 7 o'clock and running until 9 p. m.

Fire Routs 50 in Troy Apartment

TROY, N. Y. (AP)—Nearly 50 persons were homeless today after fire tore through a four-story, brick apartment building in this Hudson River city.

Five persons were reported injured in the fire Friday, one seriously. He was Dennis Casey, 36, who suffered face, chest and hand burns. Casey was reported in satisfactory condition at Samaritan Hospital.

No damage estimate was available immediately. Troy Fire Chief Edward Zant said it was believed that the first began in Casey's bedroom in an apartment at the rear of the first floor.

Fourteen apartment units were in the building.

New Organization To Push for End Of Vietnam War

A new citizens' organization — the Mid-Hudson Council for New Politics — has made its bow on the local political scene.

According to Council chairman Leonard Bard, a Poughkeepsie businessman, the Council's first public project will be participation during the week of April 8 in a nationwide demonstration of organizations urging an end to the Vietnam war.

In a policy statement this week, Bard declared that "the Council will work for the abolition of poverty and racial discrimination, and toward an improvement in housing and education in our community."

But, he stated, no real progress can be made in these directions until the resources of our economy—nationally, on a state level, and locally—are diverted from war purposes and turned toward the satisfying of what he termed the "needs of all the people."

Among other activities scheduled by the Mid-Hudson Council, Bard added, are: a committee to guide and counsel conscientious objectors; the organization of local support for the nationwide Committee of Responsibility to Save War-Burned and War-Injured Vietnamese Children; and support of the local Congress of Racial Equality in its campaign for investigation of the Dutchess County Office of Economic Opportunity.

Membership inquiries and requests for Council speakers may be directed to Bard at his home, 3 Dwight Street, Poughkeepsie.

Arraign Soviet Skipper Today On Fish Charge

KODIAK, Alaska (AP) — The skipper of a seized Soviet trawler, whose arrival here drew a crowd of 500 irritated, curious Alaskans, was aboard a Coast Guard cutter today awaiting transfer to Anchorage for arraignment on charges of violating U. S. fisheries zone.

The Soviet trawler SRTM 8-547 and its Coast Guard escort were anchored about two miles from here Friday to avoid possible incidents in this fishing community of 5,000.

Keonid M. Kuschchenko, skipper of the Soviet vessel, and Dimitry Kavaykin, representing the Soviet fleet commander, was to be flown to Anchorage for arraignment today.

The captain will be charged with violating the U. S. exclusive 12-mile fisheries zone, which carries a maximum penalty of a $10,000 fine and one year in prison. His boat and cargo also could be confiscated.

REV. CORNELIUS J. RYAN, PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Rev. Cornelius J. Ryan, 51, provincial treasurer of accounting at St. John's University in Brooklyn, N.Y., died Friday.

Dear Abby . . .

Love, Kisses and Shoe Polish

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married a year and we get along very well. The only argument we have is whether I should polish his shoes or not. We both read your column every day and would like you to settle this for us.

HATES TO POLISH SHOES

DEAR HATES: Polishing a man's shoes is like showering him with kisses. Unless it's done with love, he may as well stop off downtown and hire it done.

DEAR ABBY: There is a woman in our office (she's no youngster) whose husband sends her flowers, candy, birthday gifts, anniversary presents, valentines, etc.—delivered at the office! Why, I wonder, doesn't he send them to her at home?

I am not jealous for I have been happily married for as many years as she, but don't you think she has him send everything to the office so she can "show off" a little bit in front of the other girls?

ONE OF THE GIRLS

DEAR ONE: Possibly. But look at it this way, Perhaps you're lucky. At least she doesn't bore you to death the next day TELLING you about it.

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend said he wanted to buy me an engagement ring so I immediately thought of a diamond. Yesterday he took me into a little shop that sold trinkets and he asked me how I liked a set of rings that cost $25. Abby, they were awful! They looked like tin and cut glass. I didn't tell him what I thought of the set,

Most Since 1964 Pump Is Primed As Money Flows At Record Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is pumping money into the economy at the fastest rate since early 1964, according to an index President Johnson has called highly reliable.

The Commerce Department reported Friday that the deficit in the national income accounts budget ran at an annual rate of $3.6 billion during the last three months of 1966.

The budget deficit was the largest since a $6.7-billion annual rate for the second quarter of 1964, which was spurred by a cut in income taxes.

The national income account budget deficit means the government is spending more money than it's taking in.

Johnson, in last January's administration budget message, stressed the national income accounts figures as being a highly accurate indication of government economic policy.

But despite the latest figures, the administration has maintained it's not engaging in economic pump-priming.

The Labor Department announced Friday a drop in wholesale food prices this month. But industrial wholesale costs showed a moderate rise, keeping the wholesale price index steady at 106.0, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported.

This means it cost $106 for wholesale commodities that in the 1957-59 base period cost $100.

New Regulations On Ground Water Set by Governor

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller announced today that the State Water Resources Commission had adopted a revised statewide ground waters classification system to protect the quality of the State's underground water supplies.

"The new system parallels the classifications and standards for surface waters by prohibiting the discharge of untreated wastes that would contravene the ground water quality standards," Governor Rockefeller said.

Drinking Prime Use Governor Rockefeller emphasized that the prime use of fresh ground water is for drinking and the establishment of suitable standards is essential to their continued high quality.

"Classification of ground waters is another important step in tightening control over environmental hazards under New York's Pure Water Program," Governor Rockefeller said.

Under the revised standards, ground waters will be classed in three categories. Class GA will apply to waters best used as a source of drinking water supplies; Class GSA will be for saline waters that may be converted to fresh potable waters; and Class GSB will be applied only to saline waters in special cases as determined following public hearings.

2-Year Study The adoption of classes and standards for underground waters followed a detailed two-year study by a special committee representing the member agencies of the State Water Resources Commission, the United States Geological Survey and Nassau and Suffolk Counties. The study group was coordinated by the State Health Department. In addition, a series of nine public hearings was held last summer throughout the State.

The State Resources Commission will consider applying the revised ground water classes and standards on a statewide basis after public hearings scheduled later this spring.

Flames Damage County Garage at Quarryville

Quick action and timely arrival of firefighters from the Centerville units in charge of the Frank Ward, Friday, was credited with saving the new Ulster County Garage under construction on the Fred Wells property opposite the old Quarryville School.

Chief Ward said an overheated pot belly stove ignited material that is being used on the walls and ceiling of the new two-stall garage as an insulator. The chief reported the fire spread rapidly inside the concrete block structure and caused dense smoke.

Firemen donned masks to enter the building and quell the flames. According to fire officials the structure might have been destroyed if the firemen had not arrived as quickly as they did.

Charge Reduced

A charge of petty larceny against Earl Lentner, 59, of 771 Broadway was reduced to disorderly conduct in City Court today. He was accused of stealing a can of beef from the Governor Clinton Market. Lentner was fined $10 after pleading guilty to the reduced charge.

PETE JOHNSON

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Pete Johnson, 62, who acquired the title "boss of the blues" during a 38-year career as a jazz pianist and composer, died Thursday. Johnson composed such numbers as "Just for You" and "Cherry Red."

Rondout Valley Teacher Weds Iowa Girl In Greek Rites; Second Wedding Sunday

Miss Geraldine B. Fisher of Nyack, daughter of Mrs. Emma Fisher of Thompson, Iowa, was married to Jason A. Goumas, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Goumas, 22 Hoffman Street, Kingston, on Sunday, March 12.

The 2 p. m. nuptials were performed at the St. George Greek Orthodox Church in Kingston by the Rev. Nicholas Katsoulis.

The bride, escorted by her brother, Commander Robert D. Fisher of Newport, R.I., wore a beige gown of rayon peau de soie. Appliques of lace adorned the scoop neckline bodice and the A-line skirt. Her train of peau de soie was detachable and her crown headpiece held a shoulder length veil. She carried a nosegay of white roses and freesias.

Miss Ruth Wells of Nyack was her only attendant, wearing a floor length blue brocade gown and coat. She carried a nosegay of yellow roses and freesias. Candie carriers for the colorful ceremony were Lisa Fisher, niece of the bride, and Katina Bliziotis of New Paltz, niece of the bridegroom.

Best man or coumbaros as is customary in the Greek Orthodox ceremony was Michael Litsis, of Teaneck, N. J., cousin of the bridegroom. Ushers were Paul Bierwisch, John Havko, Red Hook; Donald R. MacCollam, and Supervisor Wendell Scherer.

A reception for 150 guests took place at the Governor Clinton Hotel. On Easter Sunday, at the Methodist Church, Thompson, Iowa, a second marriage ceremony will take place.

The bride is a graduate of Thompson, Iowa High School, Iowa State Teachers College and Drake University. She received her Masters Degree from New York University and has taught in Iowa, Japan, Germany. She is presently teaching in the Nanuet Middle School, Nanuet.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Kingston High School, attended Pennsylvania State College and received his BS and MS in education degrees from the State University at New Paltz. He is currently teaching at the Marbltown School of Rondout Valley Central School, Stone Ridge.

The Right Thing To Do

By Elizabeth L. Post

WIDOW IS COMFORTED BY WEDDING RING

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a problem which will seem minute to you but is growing into quite a headache for us. My mother is a recent widow and refuses to part with her rings. The problem is, people are forever asking about her husband, where he is, his line of work, etc. This always throws mother into a deeper depression, and is certainly not helping her to adjust to the fact that he is gone. Can you help? On which finger does a widow wear her rings to show she is a widow?—Worried Daughter.

Dear Worried Daughter: Don't try to get your mother to remove her rings. She should wear them on the same finger to show her status as a married woman; there would be more questions than she is now asked if she took them off. The rings are a comfort to her—she should not have to give up their symbol of her happiness.

Use of 'ESQ' on Engagement Announcement

Dear Mrs. Post: I am soon to become engaged to a lawyer, and I would like to know if it is correct for the engagement announcement to read, "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, announce the engagement of their daughter Sally Ann to John Jones, Esq." etc.? Is the use of "Esq." considered proper? — Sally Ann Smith.

Dear Miss Smith: Even though lawyers are among the few who are still addressed as "Esq." it's correct usage is restricted. The rule is that "Mr. John Jones" is correct on formal invitations and that would hold true for announcements "Esq." is only used in personal and business correspondence.

Heartier Fare for Male Guests
Dear Mrs. Post: We are planning an afternoon open house to celebrate a twenty-fifth wedding anniversary in May. What should one serve at an afternoon open house which will be attended by both men and women. I know from the remarks made by the men in our family that they consider our usual tea fare to be pretty far from satisfactory as male fare. Can you help?—Ellen H.

Dear Mrs. H.: My husband, too, considers tea sandwiches very inadequate fare. But an open house is quite different from a tea and your menu may be greatly expanded. Platters of cold meats may be served accompanied by two or three varieties of thin-sliced bread. The best of all is a whole fillet of beef, sliced very thin. Or you may have a smoked ham or a turkey sliced into sandwich-size pieces. Besides the meats, serve a big platter of raw vegetables—carrots, celery, cauliflower bits with a choice of dips. Bowls of potato sticks or chips round out a buffet which should satisfy even the heartiest eater! I would still recommend serving a plate or two of more delicate sandwiches for daintier eaters, and a replica of your wedding cake provides dessert.

Lodging for Out-of-Town Guests
Dear Mrs. Post: Please advise a groom regarding invited out-of-town guests. The guests must travel 400 to 500 miles, which will necessitate their staying overnight, as the reception is in the evening. "A" says the groom is responsible for seeing to accommodations for said guests, as they are not acquainted with this city. "B" says that out-of-town guests must look out for themselves on arrival. Who is right?—Frances Nesbitt.

Dear Miss Nesbitt: "A" is right. The groom should try to find accommodations for his out-of-town guests, either with his friends or in a hotel or motel. He should make the reservations for them, but he need not pay their hotel bill. He should inform them of the cost and arrangements in advance, in case they should feel it too expensive and wish to make other plans of their own.

MONKEYS, GO HOME, a Walt Disney film, will be sponsored by the St. Joseph Parents Association on Wednesday, March 29 at 2 p. m. in the Community Theatre. Filmed in Technicolor, the romantic-comedy stars Maurice Chevalier, Dean Jones, pictured above, and Yvette Mimieux. Jones portrays the role of an ex-GI turned olive-grower. Chevalier portrays the local priest who reveals the facts of life of olive farming; mainly, that the olives must be picked from the ground after the seasonal mistral wind blows them off the trees and that only farmers with large families can handle the job profitably. This is where Jones introduces four female chimps to the art of olive picking. Tickets for the benefit showing may be obtained from members of the Parents Association. (Walt Disney Productions)

Hints from Heloise by Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:

My five daughters share one bedroom.

Finding their own clothes was a real problem until I solved it with the help of plastic lids from coffee and shortening cans.

I used a quarter for a pattern and cut a hole in the middle of each lid. With a marking pencil, I wrote each girl's name on a separate lid.

I slipped these marked lids on the poles across their closet and hung each girl's clothes between them. They are just like the size markers on the dress racks in large stores. If the pole isn't detachable, just slit the lid from the hole through to the outside and slip it on the pole.

The girls now keep their things completely separated and enjoy doing it.

This sure has saved my acting as an arbitrator during their arguments!

Mrs. J. Halay

Dear Heloise:

I have only one deep kettle for boiling a whole chicken, or a half a ham, etc. The pan is thin, and often whatever I boiled stuck to the bottom of the pan and burned.

I now had up a double chunk of heavy-duty aluminum foil to fit the bottom of the pan and this solved my problem when boiling meats.

The foil keeps the meat off the bottom of the kettle and was my answer after all these years and years.

Wed 25 Years

Ever try a grate, or a rack? You can buy one at the dime store to fit the bottom of your pan.

Some are made of wires like your cake rack. They don't cost much so try one next time. 'Course, you may burn up a pan, but your meat won't burn into it too. No scorched vegetables stuck, either.

Heloise

Here's an Easter egg hint that my daughter came across quite by accident.

When coloring eggs, she poured the hot water and dye into cut down, wax-coated milk cartons.

When the eggs are dropped into the dye you get beautiful designs because the wax from the carton melts in the hot water, and makes a design on the egg as you drop it in.

Every design is different. And to top it all off, there are no stained cups to wash. Just throw the milk cartons away.

Mary Ortuglio

Gals, this is really a dilly. But... it won't work on plastic milk cartons. They must be the wax-coated type.

For those of you who don't have wax-coated cartons, try a few drops of candle wax in your container, pouring your boiling water in and then take it from there. Great.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

The only sure way not to get dishpan hands is to get a dishwasher or eat off dirty dishes!

LYNN (Aged 13)

Dear Heloise:

My husband has quite an assortment of pipes that he uses each day, and he always leaves burned ashes in them.

I usually end up putting them back in the pipe rack. Then later when I am vacuuming, I pick up each pipe carefully and vacuum up the ashes (which are naturally dry and safe by that time).

His pipes are always nice and clean when he wants them again and I don't have ashes all over my floors from having dropped a pipe.

Mrs. S. Manning

That's what I call using your head instead of your energy. I put that hint "in my pipe and smoked it!"

Heloise

Looks Good to Her

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — With a twinkle in her eye, Mrs. John Gadsby says it looks like her marriage is going to last.

"I can't do much different at this age," she said today as she and her husband observed their 71st wedding anniversary. She is 93, her husband 92.

"The only time I feel old," says Gadsby, "is when I have a spat with my wife."

Have you or any of your readers tried making note paper from wallpaper and plain white shelf paper?

I cut the white shelf paper in note-size sheets. Then I cut decorations from various designs on the colorful wallpaper and paste them at the top of the white sheets.

Such cute note paper and so inexpensive.

South Pushes Panic Button

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A letter from Winnipeg reads in part, "Do you ever open with a bid of four no-trump? If you do, what does the bid mean?"

The answer to this question is that we do use the four no-trump opening bid about once every year or so and when we do we are asking for aces. In other words our opening four no-trump is immediate Blackwood.

Today's hand shows this bid at work. South as a trifle shocked to find that he is expected to play a diamond slam without a diamond in his hand but he recovers from the shock in time to collect for the game, slam and rubber.

It is evident that North and South would have no trouble getting to six diamonds on almost any bidding sequence, but the opening four no-trump is really valuable here.

Suppose, for example, that North opened with a natural forcing two diamond bid or an artificial forcing two club bid.

East is not vulnerable. He can't be expected to get into the bidding at the five level but any East worth his salt would surely get into action at the two level and stick in a two spade overcall.

South would pass and West would bid either three hearts or three spades. This would not stop North from trying Blackwood at his second turn to bid but it also would not stop East

How Emotions Affect Allergies Still Clouded

By Allergy Foundation of America
(Distributed by NEA Special Services)

One of the common bits of slow-down advice, "Don't break into a rash," shines with bright wisdom when it comes to allergies.

While exploring the medical forests surrounding allergies in the early days, some doctors were convinced that emotional problems laid the foundation for hay fever.

At present, this view is not so prevalent, though doctors know that there is no way of separating illness from the emotions of the ill and that emotions play some part.

"Excitement, anger, even fear can trigger allergic attacks," states the new volume, "Allergy," published by the Allergy Foundation of America. "Sometimes a psychiatrist has been called to relieve the emotional anxiety of an allergy victim and contribute to the patient's improvement. But emotional stress does not cause allergic diseases in anyone who is not allergic to begin with."

It is known that emotions can set tides of elements moving in the blood. There is speculation that certain hormones may be called forth in the body by the emotions, upsetting the hormonal balance, thus heightening the allergic reaction.

One of the penalties paid by the chronic asthma victim is a great sense of loneliness. In his battle to breathe, he can be close to emotional panic at times.

Frequently psychiatrists help the allergy-trapped child who can be in the center of a whirlwind of emotional anxiety due to his deformities.

Hay fever patients usually get a severe talking-to by their allergist on the subject of the pollen-count reports which are made public during the height of the pollen season. They are not to hang on those counts as if they were the stock market ticker tape.

The psychological bridge has displayed itself quite plainly here. Some patients will read the pollen counts expecting to feel worse, and feel worse.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, March 25, the 84th day of 1967. There are 281 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1911, fire swept a 1-story loft building in New York City, taking the lives of some 147 persons. The historic Triangle Waist Co. fire triggered widespread reforms in laws governing factory working conditions.

On this date: In 1776, the first Medal of Honor was awarded to Gen. George Washington for the capture of Boston.

In 1883, revolution broke out in Haiti.

In 1939, Adolf Hitler said the German people would stand shoulder to shoulder with the Italian nation.

In 1944, the German military commander in Rome announced the execution of 320 civilians in reprisal for the killing of 32 Nazi military policemen.

In 1946, a diamond worth almost $10,000 was stolen from the floor of the National Capitol in Havana. The diamond, belonging to the Cuban government, had been imbedded in the floor for decorative purposes.

Ten years ago — President Dwight D. Eisenhower nominated Katherine Brownell Oeltinger, dean of the School of Social Work at Boston University, to be chief of the Government's Children's Bureau.

Five years ago — France recalled its ambassador from Moscow and sent the Soviet ambassador to France home as a protest against the Soviet Union's recognition of the rebel strife-torn Algeria.

One year ago — Five alpinists became the first men to conquer Mt. Elger, Switzerland, by sealing the treacherous peak's vertical north wall.

brides to be . . .

A beautiful wedding is one that is successfully planned. After it is all over, the bride will attest to the fact that a most important help is the cooperation by the shop where she purchased her gown and her attendant's gowns. Also she was secure in the knowledge that her wedding gown was individual as were her attendants, because she was able to select from lots of styles, and thus create her own idea of a wedding party and not just settle for something five other brides had.

It's at DOREEN'S you can achieve an individual look in wedding fashions. Bridals are $65 to $125 and up, and attendants' gowns are $25 to $40 and up. Each is fitted to perfection and ready to take home weeks before the wedding, if you so desire.

Orders are not taken unless we can guarantee delivery — you will find this very important to you, because we have become known for "guaranteed delivery" with "no substitutions" at the last minute.

If you are planning a wedding, our bridal consultant awaits your pleasure and you can count on the complete privacy of a pre-arranged appointment. Tel. 331-6047 day or evening — closed Tuesday. For your convenience we suggest that you use our layaway plan.

FASHION LUNCHEON FETE—Seven local ladies comprise the steering committee for the April Luncheon and Fashion Show being sponsored by The Woman's Club of Saugerties. Planning the affair, which will feature all types of apparel from casual sports clothes to mad-mod-mini creations, are (seated, l-r) Mrs. James O'Reilly, co-chairman; Mrs. Joseph Kramer, chairman; Mrs. Henry Breitenbach, publicity; Mrs. Edward Hulme, posters; Mrs. Robert Anderson, models; Mrs. James Pratt, tickets; and Mrs. Albert Curl, decoration.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Plan Passport To the World Of New Fashion

Fashion shows never fail to appeal to women, whether they're staged in a small suburban restaurant or large metropolitan hotel . . . or just about anywhere else. Luncheons, too, are affairs which the female of the species seems to thoroughly enjoy.

For that reason, the luncheon and fashion show being planned by The Woman's Club of Saugerties and Sears, Roebuck and Company next month should be a two-pronged success. The local organization and the retail firm have joined forces to stage the show at Oehler's Mountain Lodge on Saturday, April 22, at 12 noon. Theme of the event will be "Passport to Woman and Her World."

Officials of Sears merchandise department will provide outfits for more than 20 models, all members of the local club.

This annual fund raising event of the Woman's Club is headed by Mrs. Joseph Kramer, chairman. Other steering committee members include: Mrs. James O'Reilly, co-chairman; Mrs. Robert Anderson, models; Mrs. Albert Curl, decoration; Mrs. Edward Hulme, posters; and Mrs. Henry Breitenbach, publicity. Others assisting are: Mrs. Roy Alquist and Mrs. Clarence Bryden, ways and means; Mrs. Norman Nitschke, Mrs. Michael Galletta and Mrs. Carol Nardo, tickets; Mrs. Richard Gustin, Mrs. John Gorecki and Miss Jeanette Gustin, models; Mrs. Jay Caffrey, decoration; Mrs. Edward Jabs, Mrs. Charles Fous, Mrs. William Hayes and Mrs. Joseph Hemphill, posters.

The ticket chairman has announced that tickets to the dual attraction were made available at the general meeting of the Woman's Club on Thursday. These may be purchased from any member of the ticket committee, as well as at the Sears store in Kingston Plaza.

Sullivan Is Speaker

Monday Club of Saugerties met at the home of Mrs. David Jones this week. Mrs. Dorrance Baker, president, presided at the business meeting and John L. Sullivan, executive director of Gateway Industries, Inc. was guest speaker. Members are gratified to know that this area can offer so much for the handicapped in the work of this non-profit rehabilitation and training center.

A social hour followed the meeting with Mrs. Robert Freilich assisting the hostess. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Joseph Frankel on March 27.

Unit Is Working Handwovens

Centerville Home Demonstration Unit held a covered dish luncheon this week in the meeting hall of Saugerties Savings Bank, with Mrs. Charles Newcomb, group sponsor, present to outline the new program now taking place within the different units.

Announcement was made that a repeat lesson for the Calendar of Activities will be held Wednesday, April 19, at 74 John Street, Kingston, to be taught by Professor Charles Fischer and with all members invited to attend this repeated session. A letter from Phyllis W. Barlow and thank you notes from Jane Simons, Kay Whitaker and Katherine Benz were entered in the record.

Three members, Lorraine Jorgensen, Henrietta Abbott and Marie McCutcheon, have joined the Centerville Unit. Another feature of the luncheon was a report by chairlady Margaret McColl on the different projects which have been and will be made. It was reported that a new coffee urn has been purchased and a new cabinet will arrive for the meeting rooms in April, with Mary Lou Rowland in charge of this project.

Anyone interested in making hand woven pillows or other similar works of art is urged to make an effort to attend the next meeting, Monday, April 17, at 10 a. m. at Saugerties Savings Bank.

Solons Tour Spain

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Rep. Alexander Pirnie, R-N.Y., and 15 U.S. senators and other representatives planned a tour of Lisbon today while enroute to an interparliamentary conference.

The group led by the Utica Republican, arrived Friday for a three-day stay before traveling to the conference in the Spanish Mediterranean Balearic Islands.

The group leaves Sunday for Palma de Mallorca in the islands.

Schooner Sinks

BOSTON (AP) — The 104-year-old schooner Alice S. Wentworth sank recently at a Boston pier.

The 73-foot ship was launched in 1863 at Norwalk, Conn., and is reported to be the oldest registered vessel in the United States.

$2,067 Tip

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Jennie Bauman, a waitress who flawlessly serves up food with a smile, will return to her native Finland for a three-month stay with the biggest tip she's gotten yet.

J.H. Bacon gave Mrs. Bauman a $1,067 airplane ticket and $1,000 spending money and explained Thursday: "I'm giving Jennie this trip first class all the way because she is a first-class waitress and the finest waitress I've ever had."

She has waited on Bacon, a bachelor clerk of court, for 15 years at a cafe.

Mrs. Bauman, 58, has several brothers and a sister in Helsinki. She'll leave June 15.

Lockhart Is 'Lost in Space'?

HOLLYWOOD — People keep wondering about June Lockhart. The wondering is linked with memory of her performance on Broadway in the play "For Love or Money," which brought her fabulous critical acclaim. She won the Donaldson Award, the Antoinette Perry "Tony" the Theater World Award and she was named Woman of the Year in Drama by a new syndicate.

People keep wondering about June because of the CBS-TV show "Lost in Space" in which she has so little to do with her enormous talents obviously are being wasted.

Her career seems to be Lost in Space too.

June is aware of this, but for her the show computes. She openly talks about the situation which, she admits, forced her into "certain philosophical adjustments."

As the series (now going into its third year) developed it turned out that I have very little to do. On some shows I'm lucky to have as many as five lines. But now I feel this way about it. I have nothing to prove to myself. The industry is aware of the fact that I have done comedy, drama, even played neurotics.

I have many other interests which include my family (husband John Lindsay and two daughters, aged 12 and 14). When I'm on the set with little to do in some scenes I read, listen to music, even entertain friends. Because I don't have to be up early every morning I can attend concerts and go to the theater. The character I play on the show is attractive and conducts herself with dignity. And on top of everything the pay is splendid — I'm completely happy.

While other actresses may seek out challenges and accomplishments, June has already had them. As a child she was an actress in motion pictures. As a young adult she also appeared in many top films, followed by her 260 performances on Broadway in "For Love or Money."

For six years she played the mother in the Lassie television series after spending three years as a panelist on the NBC-TV news quiz show Who Said That?

For this show she read an average of eight newspapers a day plus several news magazines to prepare for the telecasts. She still reads four newspapers a day including the Wall Street Journal while waiting for her Lost in Space family to return from their adventures. "It's nice work," she smiles. "Reading, listening to music, talking to friends — and getting paid for it."

Killed in Crash

PHILIPS, N.Y. (AP) — Martin Fisher Jr., 52, of nearby New York, was killed Friday when, State Police say, his automobile failed to negotiate a curve and struck a tree.

The accident occurred along Route 88, 3 1/2 miles north of this Finger Lakes village. Fisher was alone in the car.

PHOENICIA NEWS

City Ambulance Service Head Addresses Shandaken Board

Gilbert Gray of Doctors Ambulance Service, Kingston, recently outlined steps to be taken if his firm is hired to provide ambulance service to the Town of Shandaken and Phenicia. Gray spoke at a meeting of the Town of Shandaken Board.

Need for such a service cropped up when both the E. B. Gormley and Margaretville Ambulance Services announced they would suspend operations as of midnight, April 15. They blamed their actions on new state legislation controlling ambulance services.

In his presentation, Gray noted stationing of another ambulance in the Phenicia area would bring his firm's total to five ambulances. He estimated the annual cost of this service to be $12,000 with a fulltime employee costing $5,720 per year and operating costs amounting to $6,000. Gray asked for a first-year "operating fund" of $10,000 and said this amount could be reduced if profits were greater than expected.

Supervisor Ralph Bush called for a special meeting of the board at a later date and urged "no further delays" in contracting for a new ambulance service. Solons also accepted a bid from the J & P Implement Co., of Central Bridge, for a new spraying machine to supplement insect spraying work in the town. The price quoted for a new machine was $3,000 including delivery.

In other business Justice of the Peace George A. Kirk, chairman of the Town Planning Board Committee, noted "much headway" has been made in forming the proposed planning board. He said several names have been suggested as possible members but declined naming those suggested until personal contact has been made.

August De Weaver, of the New York State Gas and Electric Corporation, of Oneonta, disclosed at the meeting that modernization of electric lines along the Chichester Road is necessary, along with replacement of incandescent lamps in Chichester. He said the lamps are old and do not provide sufficient light. Suggesting luminous mercury vapor lamps—which he said give off better light—De Weaver said work on the project will start possibly in May.

Name Mrs. Hoyt To Head Local 'Action' Center

Mrs. Lindsley Hoyt, wife of the local lumber dealer and a woman well-known for social and political activities in this area, has been named to head up establishment of a "Neighborhood Center" in Phenicia as part of the county's Community Action Program.

According to the Rev. Russell Roe, pastor of Shandaken Methodist Church, who made the announcement for the program director, Mrs. Hoyt will also set up an advisory board to inform local residents and direct the neighborhood center's work.

He said a meeting will be held April 6 at 8 p. m. in the Phenicia Elementary School with Bernhard H. Kramer, Kingston, of the state Regional Directors Office; and Mrs. Jennie Krevolon, an associate director. They will explain aims of the program and Phenicia's involvement.

Game Club Hears Area Conservation Agent

Robert Greene, Conservation Department biologist for the Poughkeepsie District, outlined plans for a study of the fish death rate in this area at a meeting of Phenicia Fish and Game Club recently.

Greene said surveys will be taken to determine reaction to a projected program for opening a special six-week trout season in the fall in Esopus Creek from Boiceville to Allaben. Fishing in any other stream during this period would be forbidden. He stressed that, so far, the project is only in the idea stage and that no concrete action has been taken.

During the session films were also shown of salmon and trout fishing and plans were discussed for a "fish pond" at the Kingston Shopping Plaza. The club, on record approving the idea, noted various clubs will have booths at the Plaza to promote membership.

Also discussed was the annual dinner to be held May 20 and the next meeting's subject—the controversial question of a firearms law. The meeting will be held April 10 with nominations to be made for new club officers.

Second Immunization Series on Polio Held

A total of 19 pre-school youngsters and 187 school students received oral polio vaccine during the second in a series of immunization clinics sponsored by Ulster County Board of Health, Ontario School System and Town of Shandaken Nursing Committee.

The totals represent one additional pre-schooler than immunized at the first clinic and four less students. Dr. Charles Quinn was aided in the clinic by Nurse-Teacher Mrs. Nancy Broughton and P-TA President Jane Rositz.

Present Scout Badges

Phenicia Boy Scout Troop No. 60 held a court of honor recently with three tenderfoot badges presented by Senior Patrol Leader Henry Bernstein Jr. Those receiving the badges were Timothy Short, Stewart Schlessinger and John Rodgers. Ceremonies were held in the Phenicia Elementary School auditorium.

The troop is also completing plans for a three-to-four day camping trip to Tiskilwa Park, Chichester. Scoutmaster Harold Quick estimates 12 to 15 members will take part.

Students Give Talks

Mauricio de Barros, one of two American exchange students enrolled at Ontario High School, spoke at a meeting of Phenicia Rotary Club recently.

DeBarros, from Brazil, spoke on his nation, its methods of education and other cultural aspects. He accompanied his talk with slides.

The other exchange student is Miss Claudia Crette, of France. She also spoke this week before members of the Phenicia American Legion post. They are both here through the American Field Service exchange program.

Deadly Cigarettes

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Firemen list careless smoking as the probable cause of a fire Friday night that claimed the life of a 73-year-old man.

The body of Joseph Kajdasz was found in the dining room of his apartment on Buffalo's eastside. A medical examiner said he died of asphyxiation.

Firemen said the flames originated in the living room of the second-floor apartment and spread to the attic before being extinguished. Kajdasz owned the 2½-story frame dwelling housing the apartment, they said. His address was 314 Gibson St.

Finds $70,000 Checks

BOSTON (AP)—Sidney Jaffee, a janitor at the Statehouse, found $70,000 worth of negotiable checks in some trash he was unloading.

The checks were destined for retired school teachers but had gone astray after being processed in the state treasurer's office. Jaffee returned them and got a reward—coffee, doughnuts and a handshake from Robert Q. Crane, the state treasurer.

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP)—It's official now: hoofs of the brave bulls will never shake the turf of Maine arenas to the blare of trumpets.

Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis has signed an act which makes bullfighting illegal.

Sends Daughter As Loan Payment; Court Nabs Child

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A Nashville mother who sent her 5-year-old daughter to a loan company that garnished her paycheck says she "would do anything" to get the child back.

But the pretty blonde daughter is now a ward of juvenile court, and the mother, Wanda Lee Thompson, 27, has been charged with neglect.

Mrs. Thompson pinned a note on young Teresa Lynn Thompson's coat Thursday and sent the child alone in a taxicab to a downtown finance company.

The note read in part: "Here is my baby. Since you took my check you can take care of her till I'm able to."

The mother, who is divorced, said Friday night that she regrets sending Teresa Lynn to the loan company.

"I got to thinking about Easter and her needing shoes and clothes and knowing that I would not get a check for the next two weeks, she said. "I couldn't pay a babysitter to stay with her while I worked and everything just seemed to mount up."

"If I had it to do over, I wouldn't do what I did again—not after all the agony I've been through. I'm going to do everything in my power to get my baby back," she said.

Teresa Lynn was turned over to police by Bill McMaster, manager of the loan company who said he was tired of being the "daddy" in the case.

"I'm not inhuman," he said. "Had the woman called me or done anything and said, 'Look, I can't feed my child,' we would have done something for her—released her check or something."

Gale Kills in India

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—A 90-mile-per-hour gale accompanied by torrential rains smashed through Karachi Friday night leaving at least 10 persons dead and more than 100 injured.

Buildings were smashed and communications paralyzed by the storm. Roof tops were blown off, walls toppled, and telephone and telegraph wires snapped as the city plunged into darkness.

Dog Snacks Recalled From Market

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hill Life Packing Co., Chicago, has initiated a voluntary recall of 26,000 cases of dog candy after discovery of salmonella contamination in samples. A Food and Drug Administration spokesman said Friday.

The product involved is sold under the name "Lolli-Pops, tasty snacks for dogs," the spokesman said. It is manufactured by the Orleans Dog Candy Co. of Hamilton, Mich., and Chicago.

The spokesman said the distributor was first informed of the contamination by the Connecticut State Agency for Consumer Protection. It already had begun a recall when it was notified that the Detroit FDA district office also had detected contamination.

FDA was concerned, the spokesman said, because of the potential illness hazard to children as well as to animals because sometimes children accidentally eat such products.

The company is seeking to recall 25,000 cases containing 24 seven-ounce packages each and 1,000 cases containing 24 10-ounce packages each.

NY Employment Reported Up From Year Ago

ALBANY—Total employment in New York State was 7,600,000 in February, 160,000 more than for the same month a year ago, Industrial Commissioner M. P. Catherwood said today.

Commissioner Catherwood, head of the State Labor Department, said the unemployment total of 335,000 in February was 40,000 less than the figure reported in February one year ago and 5,000 less than the January total.

The unemployment rate for February was 4.2 per cent as compared to 4.8 per cent a year ago and 4.3 per cent in January. The February employment total was 5,000 less than the total for January, the decrease termed a reflection of normal seasonal factors.

Ulster Begins Soil Surveys; Lagging Behind in the 28th

If soil conservation is an immediate and pressing problem in Ulster County, a report issued today by Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick on activities geared toward such conservation practices in this area for 1966 does not support that theory.

Reporting on U.S. Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service activities, Resnick noted that Ulster County officials "hope to develop a project which would use local funds for speeding up a soil survey so that information gleaned can be used in community planning work."

Bermuda Salvage Wealthy

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — An expert on naval history said today the island of Bermuda is "one of the richest areas in the world for shipwrecks."

Since the discovery of America, Bermuda has always been "the last stop for ships sailing to Europe before they strike out across the broad Atlantic," said Mendel Peterson, who has undertaken a research project in naval history for the Smithsonian Institution.

But ships often got off course as they headed toward the fishhook-shaped island, rammed treacherous coral reefs on the western side of Bermuda and sank.

Living in sand pockets between these reefs "are Spanish ships and several others, covering a broad span of history," Peterson said in a report to the third Conference on Underwater Archaeology in Miami.

One 16th Century Spanish wreck recently "yielded a treasure of gold and emeralds and other valuables of great intrinsic and historic value," he said.

Salvage operations from the same wreck also produced tools, plates and a shark hook "so well made it could be used today," Peterson said.

Among the gold treasure was a perfect 16th Century gold bar, about 10 inches long and weighing 40 ounces.

A crucifix of the early 16th Century was found at another wreck site, along with coins bearing the inscription of King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella of Spain.

A Virginia Company ship, the Earle, cracked up on Bermuda reefs in 1659, Peterson said. Salvage operations at that site produced "the largest collection of 18th Century glass ever found in one place — 40 different patterns of tale glass."

Bermuda's geography is helpful to shipwreck hunters, the historian noted. After a ship smashes into the reefs, it tends to sink into "sand holes" between these reefs, where much of the ship can be preserved for long periods.

In addition, the water around Bermuda on calm days is so clear "it's like looking through a museum showcase" to the bottom, he said.

and other problems than Ulster, which has just initiated a survey. Dutchess County, he said, concerned with converting its cropland and, because of its dairy industry, interested in pasture and hay seeding, has already published a soil survey report. Field mapping has been completed in Schoharie County and a soil survey report is being prepared for publication at this very moment. Surveys continue in both Greene and Columbia Counties where landowners are cooperating and consultative services are being provided.

The congressman's somewhat lengthy report also focused on watersheds and river basins. Construction work, he said, should be getting underway soon for the Batavia Kill watershed project approved by the last Congress. This project includes land treatment to reduce erosion, runoff and sedimentation and calls for building four dams, the first to be constructed this year. As far as the Hudson River Valley is concerned, Resnick said the Soil Conservation Service staff in the state is presently working on an inventory of problems and needs in the valley.

The 28th Congressional District would seem to suffer from some 435 miles of eroding stream which cause such discernible problems as erosion of cropland, damage to highways and bridges, sediment accumulation and potential damage to buildings. Resnick's statistics have it that the 28th District has 638 miles of town, county and state highways needing treatment for erosion control.

If little has been done to date on a federal level to combat any problems in Ulster, programs in other parts of the district have had some economic impact. For example, not too many years ago, the Sharpe Reservation was a new camp of the Herald Tribune Fresh Air Fund at Fishkill. Large in acreage, it was completely undeveloped and boasted only a pond of one-quarter acre size. Conservation plans with Dutchess County helped lead to construction of a 25 acre pond and, later, two smaller ponds and by 1953 many camp buildings constructed around them.

Under Soil Conservation Service supervision, local people were employed as a year-round maintenance staff and area contractors were used for the expansion work, funneling money into the local economy via wages, services and supplies. All in all, Resnick says, millions of dollars have gone into the Sharpe Reservation and the Dutchess County Soil and Water Conservation District has helped immeasurably to make all this possible.

Over in Greene County a tree planting service has been made available to district cooperators, resulting in earnings for local residents. Ponds have been built, supplies bought, pipe installed and surveys made in order to aid the local economy. In addition, lakes have been man-made and recreational enterprises assisted as part of the Greene District program.

Schoharie County takes pride in the fact that 52 of its ponds were stocked with trout or bass and blue gills in 1966, bringing in outside fishermen with spending money to burn and licenses to buy.

Among some of the more interesting statistics provided in the Resnick report concerning conservation progress in the 28th Congressional District to date: Some 2,000 district cooperators are involved in the conservation of 389,700 acres.

About 1,400 conservation plans are in effect, covering 269,600 acres of land. Approximately 1,200 landowners have been assisted and 600 are applying practices suggested.

Soil surveys have been made covering 1,070,000 acres and 4,700 acres of cropland have been converted to other uses.

More than 100 conservation practices are getting well-deserved attention in the five counties, including conservation cropping-systems, contour farming, strip cropping, pasture and hay seeding and renovation, brush control and obstruction removal, diversions and tile drains. Work is also progressing on open drainage ditches, grass waterways and outlets, fish pond stocking, wildlife habitat development and hedgerow planting.

Business, Industry Cancer Group Discusses 1967 Drive

Richard M. Kalish, chairman of the Industrial Division of the 1967 Cancer Crusade in Ulster County, announced that an outstanding group of leaders has been formed to solicit business and industry to support the American Cancer Society's programs of Research, Education and Service.

April is Cancer Control Month by Act of Congress and Presidential Proclamation. The county goal is $45,000.

List Committee
Members of the committee are: Edward Gerlock, IBM; Robert Schnitzer, administrator, Kingston Hospital; David Ennis, New York Telephone Co.; Anthony Turck, MONY Insurance Co.; Philip Battaglia, IBM; Frank Byer, Central Hudson Gas and

Electric Corp.; John Malloy, Kingston Trust Co.; Francis Kugelmann, Kingston Savings Bank; James Norton, Rondout Savings Bank; Robert Thomas, Hercules Powder Co.; John Feltman, IBM; William Stall, Savings and Loan Association of Kingston; George Berry, Ulster County Savings Bank; William Paulis, First Federal Savings Bank; John Wrenn, Rondout National Bank.

"With this team, Kalish said, 'I am confident that we can look ahead to a very successful 1967 Crusade. All members are aware of the urgency of the problem and that more must be done now to meet critical problems of cancer. Education, one of the major objectives of this Crusade, can help save many lives from cancer."

A filmstrip, "It's Cancer We're Fighting" was shown, followed by a talk by Dr. Harri N. Janssen, chairman of the Ulster County Unit's Professional Education Committee. Dr. Janssen pointed to the tremendous progress being made today in cancer control as opposed to that of only 10 years ago. "The findings of research scientists, put into the hands of practicing physicians, are resulting in a continuous increase in the number of people cured of cancer; a total of 140,000 at this time. And through education programs, like those conducted by the American Cancer Society, more people are seeing their physicians in time to benefit from the knowledge of new techniques of early diagnosis and treatment."

Police Battle Students in Sun City

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — City Court worked overtime today as more than 200 vacationing collegians — and nonstudent infiltrators — went on trial for shenanigans on the beach.

As court opened at 8 a.m., sun-burned youths were still being booked. Charges were mostly drunkenness, disorderly conduct and unlawful assembly.

Paddy wagons cruised at the beaches and picked up troublemakers. When police ran out of official vehicles, they put a truck into service, and took 33 persons to jail in one load.

Started Friday

The trouble began with rioting Friday afternoon. Thirty were arrested. About half of these were students.

Friday night several hundred youths threw rocks and bottles at cars. They broke the windshield of a police cruiser.

Police set up a command post on top of a restaurant at the beach and cautioned frolicking vacationers to "be calm."

Students continued to arrive from campuses of many states. Police said the total could reach 3,000 by Easter Sunday.

Police gave the students this message: Have a good time but obey the law.

The warning followed a Good Friday riotous rampage quelled by helmeted police.

"We want you to have fun, but we are not going to condone what went on out here yesterday," said Police Chief Robert Johnston. "We are not trying to threaten anybody, but we are going to protect our city."

Johnston said his men, who have been reinforced, would take precautions today to prevent another rampage. About 30 students were under arrest.

This Is Fun?

Their inhibitions peeling faster than their sunburns, husky students attacked a passing bakery truck Friday and began taking cakes and bread. As Bikini-clad women cheered and waved a soft drink truck was looted and bottles and their contents hurled at onlookers.

"I saw them coming this way and I went that way," said the driver of a fruit truck he left behind. His fruit was the ammunition against police in 30 minutes of violence that made the two-block area off the beach look like a garbage dump.

At the height of the turmoil, a shouting group lifted an empty foreign car and paraded through the palm-lined street. The Bikini-clad again cheered. The men also poked a bus nearly causing it to overturn. They climbed on board and broke windows and harassed the frightened driver.

During the melee a plane circled overhead with a sign reading: "Welcome collegians — John Gilbert, bail bonds."

Note Collegians At Lauderdale; Also in Libraries

WASHINGTON (AP) — You're hearing a lot again this year about the college kid invasion of Florida for spring vacation — the beaches, beer and Bikini blast.

But how about the student swarms at the Library of Congress, where the only emphasis is on books, books and books.

It's the annual, traditional, Easter march-in of college students with term papers to write. They come not with blankets and transistor radios, but with notebooks and fountain pens.

They're the reading regiment, as opposed to the beach brigade.

It's been building up for two weeks. Brian N. Wilson who works in the gigantic main reading room, said today.

The library keeps count only of the call for books, now running about 5,000 a day—double the normal total—with an estimated three-fourths of requests from college students. The two reading rooms of the library will seat 446 persons.

They've all been filled every day this past week.

For many years, college kids have been spending vacations reading at the Library of Congress, and their numbers grow larger each year. As Wilson put it — "the demand-for-information explosion is growing every year."

The library doesn't advertise or use gimmicks to attract kids but really likes to see them come in. "It's fine to see them. This interested in learning," Wilson said.

Given FDR Award

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson has been given the first annual Franklin D. Roosevelt Birthday Memorial Award "for keeping alive in word and deed the ideals and spirit" of the late president.

Johnson was not at the dinner in the New York Hilton Thursday night to accept the award, a metal bust of Roosevelt given by the National Foundation March of Dimes.

Ambassador at Large W. Averell Harriman accepted the award for the President, saying: "Lyndon Johnson not only exemplifies the ideals of Franklin Roosevelt, he surmounts and fulfills them."

Newburgh GI Killed in Viet

A Newburgh Army man and a veteran of over 24 years in the Army were listed among those killed in the Vietnam War last week.

The Defense Department announced the combat death of Army Spc. 4 Thomas D. Peterkin of Newburgh, son of Mrs. Douglas S. Peterkin of 29 Park Avenue.

In another Associated Press report Mr. Sgt. Paul A. Conroy Jr., of De Peyster, member of the Army's Special Forces, died at a hospital in Japan of injuries suffered when a grenade exploded in his hands.

His sister, Mrs. Robert Amo, learned Friday of Conroy's recent death. She said the accident occurred in Vietnam, where the career soldier was serving with the Green Berets.

Mrs. Amo said her 44-year-old brother had been thinking of retiring from the service in April. He first entered the Army in 1942.

List Junta Leader in Latest Coup

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A sudden turn in Sierra Leone's week-long power struggle has boosted Lt. Col. Ambrose Patrick Genda from fifth rank on his country's six-man U.N. mission to head of the country's new military junta.

"I think it was very kind and thoughtful of my brother officers back there," Genda said Friday after learning that he had been named chairman of a national reformation council of six army and two police officials.

Only a year ago, Genda, 39, was retired as deputy commander of the armed forces and sent here as a second secretary because of a dispute with some of Sierra Leone's leaders. Some of those leaders were under arrest today.

The strife in the West African nation, a British Commonwealth member, of about 2.2 million persons broke out after its general election March 17. Neither Prime Minister Sir Albert Margai's Sierra Leone People's party nor the All Peoples Congress of Siaka Stevens won a majority in Parliament. But Sir Henry J. Lightfoot, Boston, representing Queen Elizabeth II, swore in Stevens as the new prime minister.

Brig. David Lansana, commander of the army, asserted that the election results were incomplete and seized power. About 20 persons were reported killed in clashes between mobs and military units.

Supplies for Cong

MOSCOW (AP) — A group of American pacifists sailing to North Vietnam with a cargo of medical supplies have entered the Gulf of Tonkin on the last leg of their trip, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today in a dispatch from Hanoi.

The six Quaker pacifists and a two-man television team aboard the 50-foot yacht Phoenix are defying U.S. State Department warnings that they are breaking U.S. laws in carrying the $10,000 worth of medical supplies to North Vietnam.

Teener Killed in Crash

A 19-year-old woman was injured fatally early Saturday in a two-car crash on the Western Gateway Bridge, between this city and nearby Scotia.

Schenectady County Sheriff's deputies identified the victim as Betty Thompson of Scotia.

Injured in the crash was John Connolly, 59, also of Scotia. Officials at Ellis Hospital here said he was in satisfactory condition. Miss Thompson lived at 604 Riverside Ave.

One More to Go for Lew Alcindor and UCLA Cagers

Bruins Oppose Dayton Tonight In NCAA Finals

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — "I predicted before the season started," said Houston basketball Coach Guy Lewis, "that UCLA would lose before the season ended. Time seems to be running out on that prediction."

Now it's up to Dayton and Lew Alcindor.

Lew Alcindor and the UCLA Bruins swept aside Houston 73-58 in the semifinals of the NCAA National Basketball Tournament Friday night and upped their season record to 29-0.

In an earlier game, Dayton's surprising Flyers shocked North Carolina 76-62 to set up the championship match tonight.

Lewis changed his prediction after his Cougars were defeated by the Bruins.

"I don't think any college team in the country will beat UCLA if UCLA will play — and UCLA will play," he said.

Referring to tonight's championship game, Lewis said, "I think Dayton will play them very well, but I don't think Dayton will win."

UCLA jumped off to a 16-11 lead early in the first half, but Houston rallied for its only lead of the game, 17-16, on a tip-in by Larry Lentz.

Never in Trouble

But the Bruins shot back to lead 39-28 at halftime and were never again in danger.

"Physically, they are as strong as any team we faced," UCLA Coach John Wooden said. "And I think a little more of our boys (Alcindor) than Elvin Hayes does."

Earlier, Hayes, Houston's All-America, had said Alcindor wasn't as good as he was supposed to be. And after facing 7-foot-1½ Bruin, Hayes remained unimpressed.

Hayes won both the rebounding and scoring duel with Alcindor. The 6-foot-8 Hayes scored 25 points and grabbed 24 rebounds to 19 points and 20 rebounds for Alcindor.

If UCLA wins the championship, it will become only the fourth major-college team ever to go through a season undefeated, and the second team to win three national titles in four years.

Much of Dayton's success was credited to the 6-foot-4 May who pumped in 34 points, mostly from the outside.

North Carolina and Houston play for third place before the UCLA-Dayton clash.

Simmons: Still a Nice Living

By MURRAY OLDERMAN

Sports Editor

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz.—(NEA)

—To give you an idea how long

Curt Simmons has been with us, when he first came up to the major leagues with the Philadelphia Phillies, the Big Three of the pitching staff was Emil

(Dutch) Leonard, Schoolboy

Rowe—and Simmons.

Leonard was 39 years old;

Rowe, now dead, was 36. And Simmons was 19. The year was

Curt still plans to be serving up baseballs this year at the age of 38, which he'll reach in May.

But things have changed, particularly the mores of the sport.

"I remember Bill Nicholson telling me that the first couple of weeks he didn't get a bat in his hands," mused Simmons

as he watched a bunch of young batting cage.

Nicholson, a long ball hitter who flourished pre-World War

II, was also one of Curt's teammates in the long ago.

"If you had two fields in training camp," reminisced Curt,

"the rookie never saw the big field. Today's kids are more aggressive. The young guys are on a par with the veterans status-wise. They've got great ability, they're overager, but they're not harnessed.

"They look different, too. I remember my first year it was nothing to see a guy with a bad wardrobe. The rook was Joe

Bush coming in — with the old pants. The men in general didn't worry about dress.

Lumber Lingo

Dimension lumber is the term for pieces from two to just under five inches thick, and two or more inches wide. Dimension is used mostly for house framing, joists, planks, rafters and studs.

"These kids got a different outfit for every meal."

Curt wasn't trying to sound like an old-timer. He appreciates the progress that has come in the treatment of young players.

"If you want a young fella to get his confidence up," said Curt,

"give him equal opportunity. Make sure the kid doesn't think he's overmatched by procedure, that people keep pushing him down."

Today's kids are cockier because they're also brought along about that, too. He bridges the entire era of the bonus player.

The Phillies paid him $65,000

right out of Whitehall Township

(Pa.) high school in 1947 when a subway token was still a nickel

(and so was a cup of coffee).

"I was the first postwar bonus baby," noted Curt as an historical point. "Dick Wakefield of the Tigers came before me, during the war. After me, I guess, came

Robin Roberts with $25,000 and Johnny Antonelli with $60,000.

I bought a house and some insurance annuities. But if I'd invested in blue chips like the kids do today—well, I never figured it out. I'd get sick."

Over 19 major league seasons, though, Curt has been a good investment himself, with 188 victories and key roles on two

National League pennant winners—the Phillies in 1950 and the St. Louis Cardinals in 1964.

The Phillies had released him in 1960 when he was only 30 years old because they thought his arm had gone dead. "I was afraid," admitted Curt, "nobody would give me another chance.

Solly Hemus, then the manager of the Cards, knew me and gave me an opportunity. My best money year in baseball was with them in '64."

Last summer, the Cards peddled him to the Cubs, who'll use him for spot stuff. Though the days are getting a little shorter,

Curt doesn't want to give up.

"I enjoy it," he said simply.

"I think it's a pretty nice way of making a living."

And maybe 19 years from now,

Ken Holtzman, only 21 but already the ace pitcher of the Cubs, could be sitting around saying how he used to pitch on

Sullivan County Aces On Region 15 Squad

Eillenberg and Strong Named

Dave Eillenberg, star of Sullivan Community College, was awarded a berth on the Region 15 All-Star team and is one of three regional players named as honorable mention selections to the National Junior College Athletic Assn. All-America team.

Named with Eillenberg were Steve Barnett, Wesley Junior College and Leslie Walker of Baltimore Junior College.

Freshman Ed Strong, Eillenberg's teammate on the Mid-Hudson Conference championship club, was also awarded a Region 15 all-star berth. Pete Kane of Orange County is the other area player on the club.

Despite its 16-8 record, Ulster Community College does not have a representative on either the all-star team or on the honorable mention list.

Other first team selections included Les Walker, Baltimore; Bill Bane, Wesley; Melvin Cheek, Manhattan; Dick Corsetto, Hartford; Bob Sands, Trenton; Steve Barnett, Wesley; Warren Endig, Fashion Institute and Steve Barry, Staten Island.

Charlie Chambers and Terry Foster of Orange County and John Watson of Sullivan County gained honorable mention nominations.

Midget Wrestlers In Spotlight Tuesday

Midget wrestlers will share the spotlight with topflight television heavyweight attractions in the wrestling card Tuesday, March 28, at the municipal auditorium.

Always popular with the grunt and groan buffs, a quartet of the undersized grapplers will engage in a best-of-three falls Australian tag-team match which is bound to jar the auditorium rafters.

Promoter Ed Ceccolini's "new faces" program introduces the current Greek champion, Spyros Arion against Luke Graham, the burly Texan who is a familiar face on the Washington TV circuit.

Ceccolini feels Arion is the finest Grecian import since the immortal Jimmy London. "He is a spectacular performer and local fans are bound to like him," said the Ossining promoter. Arion and Graham are scheduled for one fall to the limit.

International Flavor

The supporting cast is spiced with international flavor. In one bout, Professor Tanaka of Japan tangles with Arman Hussein of Egypt.

Baron Seicluna of Malta goes against Antonino Pugliese of Italy in another one-fall contest. The opener sends The Ox of Arkansas against Tony Nero, the gymnastic wizard from Florida. Ticket reservations may be made by calling the canteen at the municipal auditorium.

New Hampshire Star Wins Giant Slalom

NORTH TROY, Vt. (AP) — Dave Boyle of Waterville Valley, N.H., averted a sweep by the Cochran family of Richmond Friday by winning the men's giant slalom in the Madonna Cup ski meet on Jay Peak.

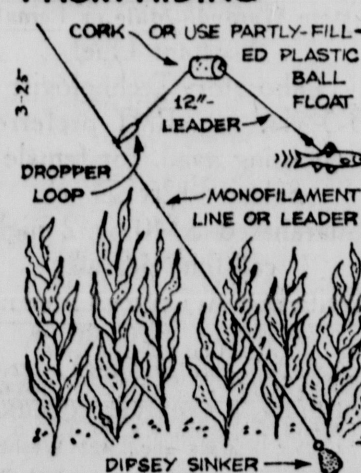

Boyle put together two runs on a 49-gate course in a total time of 1:38.52, edging Bob Cochran, who was clocked in 1:38.91.

Marilyn Cochran won the women's 38-gate slalom in 1:27.07, edging her sister, Barbara, by .23 seconds. Rick Lounsbury of Dartmouth was third in the men's giant slalom in 1:39.28. Trailing were George Merrill, 1:39.33, and Hank Kashiwa of Old Forge, N.Y., and John Lovitz of Dartmouth, who tied for fifth in 1:39.54.

Betsy Clifford of Ottawa, Canada, was third in the women's event with a total time of 1:28. Penny Northrup of White Face, N.Y., was fourth in 1:28.59, and Louise Sparks of Stowe fifth in 1:29.33.

LOUISVILLE (AP) — John Wooden, coach of UCLA's nationally top-ranked Bruins, was named Coach of the Year Friday by the U.S. Basketball Writers Association.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The New York Mets acquired infielder Sandy Alomar and gave up infielder-outfielder Derrell Griffith in a trade with the Houston Astros.

Lourdes Coach

Dutkowski Predicts Tight Race in DCSL

Vince Dutkowski, varsity baseball coach at Our Lady of Lourdes, sees the DCSL race as a tight one this coming season. The Warriors are defending champions.

"If our pitching and catching come around, we should have a good season," Dutkowski said. He feels the hitting is good.

Catching is a problem but Frank Renalli, another JV prospect, seems to be the number one player at the moment. Bill DeGregorio and Bill Jenkins are prospects.

Bill Beau, a .350 hitter in 1966, is at first base. Larry Craft, varsity returnee, is a reserve.

Joe LaFalle, Mike Gorman and Bill Sullivan are competing for the second base. Joe Gorman, up from the jayvees, will go at third. Antalek will play short when he isn't pitching. Otherwise, Scooter Kerins gets the nod.

In many schools newspapers are a regular teaching tool. Even youngsters in the early elementary grades are learning to use the daily newspaper.

It makes good sense, too. The newspaper turns facts, figures and ideas into living, exciting realities. Not only in school, but for years to come.

Acquiring a daily habit of reading a newspaper in school prepares young people for the role of informed voter, citizen, taxpayer and parent. It makes graduation the beginning, not the end of the learning process.

You can start with your children right now. Encourage them to read a daily newspaper. Arouse their interest in the adult world. Talk to them about important news events. National—worldwide—local. It's just like helping them with their homework.

Teachers and School Administrators:
For more information about the use of newspapers in the classroom write for a free brochure, "Teaching Materials for the Newspaper in the Classroom Program," to: ANPA Foundation, 750 Third Avenue, New York, N. Y. 10017.

Meadow Tarport Wins Feature at Roosevelt

Meadow Tarport, a long-shot, beat Patty Dares in the $10,000 invitational pace at Roosevelt Raceway Friday night by a neck.

The winner, timed in 2:04 2-5, returned a hefty $29.80. Third place went to Ad O'Sam. The only other harness track now operating in New York State is Batavia Downs. There was no racing program Good Friday, however, and the track scheduled a day-night card today, with nine races in the afternoon and ten at night.

VIENNA (AP) — The United States and East Germany played a 0-0 tie today in the World Ice Hockey Tournament. It was the first scoreless tie of the competition.

Masterpiece of Old World Charm

Close your eyes—picture yourself setting in the living rm. by your fireplace in this lovely Dutch Colonial. The door bell rings—you open the door and invite your guests into your gracious formal entry. They have come to see your beautiful home which is the envy of many. After hanging their coats in one of the many large cedar closets, you proudly start the tour. First you show them your cozy den loaded with bookcases and its own fireplace, then the large country kitchen with solid cherry cabinets, dishwasher, etc. Next they are captivated by the huge living room—formal din. rm., beamed ceilings, black hardware, and each room has a door to the screened porch overlooking a lovely landscaped acre of land. When you invite them up stairs they behold 4 large bedrooms, and 2 baths. There are other things you show your guests and I would like to show them to you. I'm sure you'll say as they did "I WISH THIS WAS OUR HOME!" It's only $45,000. By appt. only.

Most of Nation To Have Perfect Easter Weather

Clear and dry weather settled over most sections of the nation today after record high temperatures were reported Friday in Iowa and Nebraska.

Widely scattered rain fell from West Virginia to the northern Great Lakes and from Iowa to Texas. The heaviest rainfall came at Lubbock, Tex., where nearly three-quarters of an inch of rain and hail fell in six hours. The weather continued unseasonably warm from Texas and central Gulf states to Iowa Friday. Temperatures climbed to the 80s in much of Nebraska and Iowa.

Strong, gusty winds over the Central plains Friday subsided during the night, but Hill City, Kan., reported gusts up to 60 miles an hour. Police there reported no damage. Wind gusts fanned brush fires in Iowa and Nebraska Friday and burned over grassland and timber areas. Grass fires started near some towns in western Iowa but no buildings were destroyed.

Fog from Lake Erie shut down commercial service at Greater Buffalo International Airport early today. Driving in the area was hazardous.

Mild Weather, Clear Skies on Tap for Easter

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Generally clear and mild weather ushered in the Easter weekend in New York State today, but a nip in the air ahead for the Easter bunny and, for Sunday strollers, a chance that showers would cap their holiday.

The Weather Bureau forecast that temperatures would drop into the teens before dawn after rising to the 40s today. Sunday's highs may be in the 50s, but cloudy weather is expected to accompany the balmy readings.

Shower activity over western sections also is in store the bureau adds.

Early today, fog cut visibility in the Buffalo area, hampering motorists and curtailing airline flights.

Doors Become Screens

Screens are a grand way to soften a corner or fill in an awkward bit of wall space. You can make your own inexpensively by sawing apart, vertically, stock panel doors, then hinging the sections. Common garden lattice installed on the diagonal in a framework of 1x4s makes another handsome screen.

North Viets Hit 121-Van Convoy Kill 24 Marines

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces in the northern sector of South Vietnam shot up a 121-truck convoy Friday. In skirmishes and mortar attacks, the Reds killed 24 U. S. Marines and wounded 140 more.

The Communists ambushed the big South Vietnamese army convoy near Da Nang, leaving heavy South Vietnamese casualties and 57 trucks wrecked.

Hit Mines
In the same battle zone Communist mines twice hit a U. S. Marine convoy, leaving three trucks burned and abandoned, three Leathernecks dead and 10 wounded.

The ground fighting swirled around 514-foot Con Thien Mountain just south of the demilitarized zone separating North and South Vietnam. The rugged area is developing into a major trouble spot between the Marines and North Vietnamese regulars filtering down from the North.

Much of the ground action listed in Saturday's communiqué took place in Quang Tri Province which borders the zone.

Have 35,000 Men
The Communists are believed to have about 35,000 men in Quang Tri, the demilitarized zone and just to the north of it.

The military spokesman said battles over the previous 48 hours in Quang Tri killed 146 Communist soldiers.

The South Vietnamese convoy which was ambushed had delivered an army battalion at Quang Ngai City and was returning empty to Da Nang along coastal highway No. 1 — South Vietnam's main national highway.

Details of the ambush were sketchy, but a spokesman said the lead trucks were evidently stopped by mines and the Reds then opened up with machine-gun fire and grenades.

There was a military escort unit accompanying the convoy.

In Mid-Sector
The battlefield around Con Thien Mountain is about midway between a Marine artillery camp at Gio Linh near the coast and a larger artillery base at Camp Carroll about 15 miles inland. It is from these two that U. S. 175mm guns shell North Vietnam across the buffer zone.

Whether the Reds were attempting to drive a wedge between the two camps and set up a base on Con Thien Mountain for artillery spotting was not clear.

Marines moving around the mountain had to fight regular North Vietnamese units half a dozen times in the past 48 hours, and in almost every battle the enemy called in its own mortar supporting fire from inside the demilitarized zone, sometimes unloading 200 to 300 rounds.

Launch Mortars
Communist commanders also launched mortar attacks in War Zone C near the Cambodian border west of Saigon, where U. S. forces are conducting the biggest ground sweep of the war.

Men of the U. S. 1st Infantry Division scored another significant find in War Zone C when they uncovered a massive Communist underground camp, all booby-trapped. The camp consisted of seven large bunkers, with underground mess halls, assembly rooms and a complete printing press among other items. The camp was destroyed.

The military spokesman said that despite continued heavy weather over North Vietnam American pilots flew 94 missions Friday, including two carrier-based strikes at electric plants near Hanoi.

Slam Power Complex
Flying all-weather intruder jets in radar-directed strikes, pilots from the carriers Enterprise and Kitty Hawk hit the Thai Nguyen power complex 39 miles from Hanoi and the Bac Giang power plant 25 miles from the capital. Most of the other targets were supply facilities to the south, but one flight struck at suspected storage sites near Dien Bien Phu.

Other flights from the Enterprise winged into South Vietnam to help Marines fighting in Quang Tri Province with ground support strikes.

Hanoi's official Vietnam News Agency today quoted the president of South Vietnam's National Front for Liberation — political arm of the Viet Cong — as saying he supports North Vietnam's rejection of President Johnson's recent peace offer.

Posts Frame Panes
Give zip to pokey little metal-framed windows by framing them on either side with a 4x4 post run from floor to ceiling. Install a Roman shade between posts at the ceiling line, pull it down to the top edge of the window for daytime use. Paint the wall area under the window to match the shade. Use dark or natural wood stain for the posts.

Aristotle mentions the art of distilling in his famous "Meteorology."

Housewives Point Way To Well-Planned Kitchen

The average homemaker qualifies as a kitchen expert because she spends 60 percent of her work day there.

Unfortunately, says the Economic Research Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, her opinion isn't solicited often enough by designers, architects or builders. The result is that many kitchens, even in new homes, are poorly planned, inconvenient or inefficient.

"Most women," says a Service spokesman, "live with several kitchens, and use — or do without — various kinds of equipment before they are sure of their individual wants." But, they do have a number of kitchen problems in common. Often there are too few, or inaccessible, cabinets, not enough countertop space, undersized sinks, and hard-to-clean surfaces. In many instances, poor kitchen layout causes wasted time and steps.

One way women can make up for kitchen faults is by remodeling. Building Supply News states that it's the homemaker who initiates kitchen modernization and chooses the appliances, layout and decor. She may make do for a while with a less-than-ideal kitchen, but she's quite specific about her needs when the decision is made to remodel.

To meet her demands, most building supply centers now offer a wide variety of kitchen equipment, as well as appropriate wall and floor coverings and decorative accessories. The idea is to provide all kitchen remodeling needs in one-stop shopping.

The retailers have discovered that when a woman plans a "new" kitchen, the keynote is usually convenience. She looks for up-to-date appliances with handy time-and-work-saving features, lots of storage and countertop space, easy-to-clean wall and floor surfaces, and innovations such as adjustable and revolving cabinet shelves, self-closing drawers, cutting boards and tray racks. She also wants the most efficient kitchen layout possible. Many building supply centers now offer a planning service and feature full or partial model kitchen displays emphasizing efficiency in rooms of various sizes and shapes.

The most efficient design, according to the experts, is the "triangle" placement of major kitchen work areas. This means setting the range, refrigerator, freezer, and sink and dishwasher at equidistant points of a triangle, with no more than seven feet between each appliance. Time and motion studies show that this arrangement gives the homemaker plenty of elbow room while saving her the greatest number of steps. An added advantage of the triangle is that it can be set up in any of the four most usual types of kitchen: L-shaped, U-shaped, one-wall or corridor. The spaces between appliances should be filled in with cabinets and countertops to provide adequate storage and work space.

When redesigning their kitchens, women want to make them attractive as well as practical. Building Supply News says there's a trend toward kitchens with a warm, family-room atmosphere rather than the traditional sterile white look. In choosing equipment for a more hospitable kitchen, women are aided by the availability of appliances with colored, patterned or textured finishes, wood-grained or colored cabinets, resilient flooring in interesting or unusual designs and wall surfaces that are stain and dirt-resistant.

Going to Chanut

THOMAS A. WADNOLA

A local airman, Thomas A. Wadnola, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Wadnola, 5 Elmwood Street, has been selected for technical training at Chanut Air Force Base, Illinois, as an aircraft equipment repairman.

He recently completed basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

Airman Wadnola is a 1955 graduate of Our Lady of Lourdes High School, Poughkeepsie. He attended Ulster County Community College.

In Recruit Training

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. — Marine Private John F. Callaghan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Callaghan of 5 Hillside Avenue, Hurley, is going through recruit training at this Marine Corps Recruit Depot.

After being placed in a training platoon with other new recruits, he left the receiving barracks and began his formal Marine training under the close guidance of his Drill Instructors or "D.I.s." Until he graduates, eight weeks after he entered "boot camp," these seasoned Non-Commissioned Marines will guide and supervise his progress in physical conditioning and development, rifle marksmanship, and

Sandra Berry Is Air Force Nurse

U. S. Air Force Second Lieutenant Sandra L. Berry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey L. Berry of Rt. 28, West Hurley, has been graduated from the basic military training course for medical officers at Sheppard AFB, Tex.

The lieutenant, an Air Force nurse, studied officer responsibilities and field and classroom subjects.

On bivouac along the Red River near Sheppard, the lieutenant helped assemble a field hospital under simulated battlefield conditions. She also practiced aiding "litter patients" and handling simulated emergency situations.

She is being reassigned to Webb AFB, Tex.

She is a 1963 graduate of Ontario Central High School, Boiceville, and received her training at Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing.

In Basic Training

Army Private Anthony M. Fiore has been assigned here in the United States Army Training Center, Armor, to Company D 17th Battalion, of the 5th Basic Combat Training Brigade, for his initial eight weeks of military training.

He will spend the next two months learning all the fundamental skills of a soldier in today's modern, action Army, and will fire more than 500 rounds of live ammunition under simulated combat situations, including those encountered at night, during a three-week course with the soldier's basic weapon—the M14 rifle.

Following the completion of his basic training, Pvt. Fiore, whose guardian is Mrs. Louis V. Nardi of Route 1, Kingston, will receive at least an additional eight weeks of either advanced instruction or on-the-job training to qualify him in a specialized military skill.

Other skills which he must master to be a Marine.

He is a graduate of Syracuse University.

Dies for Cigarette

NEW YORK (AP) — "I wouldn't mind so much if my son died in Vietnam for his country," said Lucille Mauro, "but to die for nothing — for a cigarette — it's monstrous."

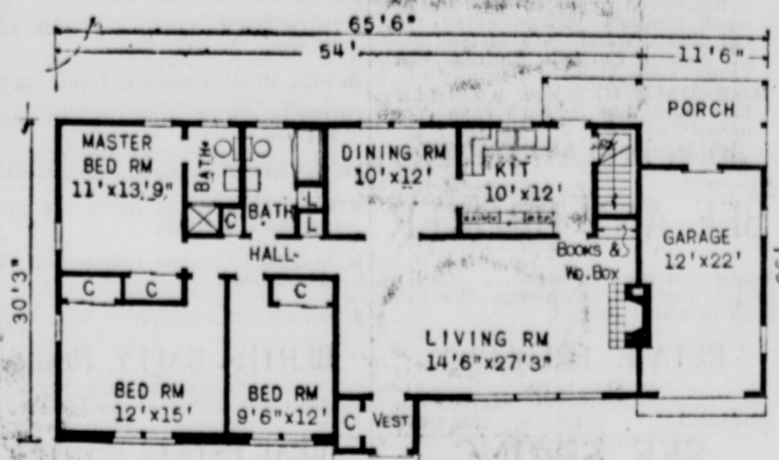

Mrs. Mauro's son, Raymond, 21, a junior at the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn, was stabbed to death Friday by one of four youths over a cigarette.

Police said Mauro, a mathematics major with a near-perfect academic average, and a friend were returning to their rooms in Brooklyn after a night in Manhattan when the four youths accosted them and demanded a cigarette.

"We don't smoke," Mauro replied. Police said one of the youths then plunged a knife into Mauro's chest.

No Part of Big Living Room Used for Dining

By JACK McLENEY

"The Stuart" has an extra large living room. And no part of this 14 1/2 by 27 1/2 foot room is used for other purposes, such as dining. There is a separate, full-scale dining room off the kitchen. A fireplace is included, with its wood box incorporated in a built-in bookcase. There is a window wall. The front door, instead of opening directly to the living room, opens on a vestibule. There the coat closet receives clothing and is a storage area as well.

Another unusual feature of "The Stuart" is its "L-shaped" covered porch at the rear. It serves several functions: to provide sheltered access from garage to the house; to be used as an outdoor dining room; and as a convenient "parking spot" for the baby carriage, where Mother can always pop out to check up on the youngster.

All told, this house has 1,500 square feet of living space. Porch and garage add 390 square feet for a total of 1,890 square feet. The 10 by 12 foot kitchen serves its purpose very well, not only because of its size, but also because the appliances are located so efficiently. Resembling the well-ordered galley of a ship, this kitchen is a step-saver because (for example) the range is as close as possible to the kitchen. Similarly, the sink has plenty of counter space for washing and working with food.

This plan calls for three bedrooms, rounding out this ranch house design. The master bedroom, 11 by 13 1/2 feet in size, comes with a private bath which is more necessary than luxury in a family with children. Because this bath is back to back with the house bath, you will save considerably in the plumbing end of construction; no additional long runs of pipe will be necessary.

The closets in all bedrooms are wardrobes with sliding doors. Not only big and modern but they are another example of space saving.

The blueprints you purchase—please be sure to use the accompanying coupon when ordering—not only show every detail of construction; they may be used by the builders. (When ordering say if you want plans with or without basement.)

With your order for blueprints you will receive a set of specifications to help protect your investment.

"The Robe," motion picture spectacular based on the Lloyd C. Douglas story of the Crucifixion and Christ's robe, is an ABC Easter Sunday evening presentation. Starring: Richard Burton, Jean Simmons, Victor Mature, Michael Rennie, Dean Jagger.

ABC Brings Monumental 'The Robe' to Television Easter Sunday

By DON ROYAL
NEW YORK

This Easter, ABC-TV presents, fittingly and with special treatment, "The Robe." The multi-million-dollar film classic, based on the Lloyd C. Douglas novel is the story of the crucifixion of Christ, the robe He wore, and of a man whose life was altered both by the momentous event and the sacred garment. The colorcast is to air 7-9:30 p. m., Eastern time, Easter Sunday.

Richard Burton, Jean Simmons, Victor Mature and Michael Rennie are the principals in the film for which ABC is putting aside for the evening its regularly scheduled programming.

Fare for the entire family, "The Robe," to be shown in its entirety is sponsored by the Ford Motor Company, with infrequent commercials which will be appropriate to the holiday and the character of the film. There are only three interruptions by the sponsor. All station break ads will be eliminated.

(The same sponsor was also the lone backer for "The Bridge on the River Kwai," an earlier "blockbuster" film which has so far held the ratings championship.)

One of the most elaborately painstaking projects in the super-colossal field of big Hollywood productions, "The Robe" was destined to become a history-making film of monumental importance, at a production cost of $5 million.

Its supporting cast has Dean Jager, Richard Boone, Dawn Adams, Jeff Morrow, Jay Robinson, Betta St. John, Torin Thatcher, Ernest Thesiger and literally thousands of others. Darryl F. Zanuck was in charge of the production.

Sound stages were built by the score to reflect the glory that was Rome and the tragedy of Jerusalem. All told there were 31 sets holding 10,000 props — each a replica of an authentic museum piece—to tell the story that touches on all areas of the far-flung Roman Empire. The set for the Crucifixion, inspirational focal point of the drama, alone cost $55,000 for a scene that took but six pages in the script, four days to shoot and 15 minutes in the final film.

Among the shooting scenes especially erected was a barren hill with its three crosses starkly silhouetted against a 650-foot panoramic background that shows Jerusalem and the surrounding hills and valleys.

A visitor to the set could wander through streets and catacombs of first-century Rome and the byways of Jerusalem that were extended through eight of the studio's 16 sound stages, as well as 60 per cent of the 30-acre backlot.

The Calvary set inspired a respectful and thoughtful silence. The setting for the Roman bath and adjacent tavern and the sets of the ancient slave market and the summer palace of Tiberius on the Isle of Capri were true conversation pieces, but the Emperor Caligula's palace in Rome was, perhaps, the most impressive.

More than 600 people were employed on this set. A mass of marble walls, heavy candelabra, columns and multi-colored draperies, it measured 225 feet long and 95 feet wide. At the south-end was the throne area, with the throne an exact replica of the original in the Paris Louvre.

RICHARD BURTON as Marcellus, a Roman Tribune and MICHAEL RENNIE as the disciple Peter in a scene from "The Robe". The motion picture is to be shown Easter Sunday, March

Wardrobes for the thousands in the cast were of hand-woven fabrics dyed in ancient processes. Sculptors, wood-carvers, jewelers, cosmeticians worked long to make the actors seem "genuine" Roman citizens.

To producer Frank Ross goes the credit for bringing the story to the screen. A neighbor, a literary agent, told him of Douglas' new novel, then but half-finished. Ross read what there was of it, bought the screen rights from Douglas for a reported $100,000, repeatedly turned down offers that would have given him a sizable profit on it. Determined to produce the movie himself and with a long-standing promise to Douglas to keep a film version in the spirit and meaning of the original work, "The Robe" finally went into film production 12 years later.

Douglas, who died in 1951, sold more than 2½-million copies of "The Robe" through 60 editions in this country. It has been translated and printed in 18 foreign languages. He had previously written other highly successful novels, "Magnificent Obsession" and "Green Light".

Among Douglas' followers was a Canton, Ohio, housewife, whose fan letter to him contained the question of what had become of "The Robe." Her query was to spark creation of the novel, which Douglas dedicated to her.

Director Henry Koster suggested Richard Burton as the leading man for "The Robe." Koster had then just completed "My Cousin Rachel," in which Burton had made his feature film debut.

"The Robe" centers around Burton's role as Marcellus, a Roman tribune who gambled at the foot of the Cross when Jesus was slain and the garment—"The Robe"—He wore to His death. It is the story of guilt and repentance, of Marcellus' conversion to Christianity and of his final absolution and the great love he experiences. Victor Mature is Marcellus' Greek slave, Demetrius, Jean Simmons is the emperor's ward, Diana, and Michael Rennie is the disciple, Peter.

Victor Mature recalls the start of production on "The Robe" as the first reawakening of a motion picture industry which had been knocked practically out by the little screen in the living room.

There was, according to Mature at first a wistful feeling at the studio, then almost abandoned and unused. Gradually, as the film got under way, everyone was filled with excitement and exuberance.

At the finish, paradoxically, it was principally "The Robe," now to be presented as a television special, which brought movie-making back to its present hardy condition, coexisting with television

Despite the magnitude of the production and the smashing impact of "The Robe," it is well to recall that films are more than epics—they are very human records of human beings at work. As an aside to the production itself:

Mature recalls being "fed up with the food" available on the lot. While dressed in the uniform of a Roman warrior, he wandered outside the studio and found a nearby, likely looking restaurant. He sat down at a table, received the stares of other diners, and was soon greeted by the manager of the eatery who said, "I'm sorry but we cannot serve you here while you're dressed like that."

"You mean," said Mature, "you don't serve servicemen?"

MONKEE MOVIES—Will the Monkees ever make a movie?—D.L., St. Paul, Minn.

The Monkees is produced by Screen Gems, a subsidiary of Columbia Pictures which in itself should answer your question. The plan was to do a movie right now while the boys are between shooting seasons, but the proper property could not be found. As soon as the right story pops up, the Monkee movie will be made.

Funniest Line

Lots of times, in reading TV scripts, you'll find lines the author has written especially to a crew man on show. But the funniest "inside" line TV SCOUT has ever seen in a script was from Hey Landlord. There was a blank space followed by this: "Space allowed for copy which was received in shorthand. Mimeo unable to transcribe."

Undecided!

It still hasn't been decided just how Walt Disney's Wonderful World of Color will be handled next season (there are enough Disney introductions filmed ahead to take care of this season). But it looks as if the highly-regarded program will continue with the shows of the same type, with no host to replace the late Disney.

1700 Pound Guest

Talk about your temperamental actors. A recent Beverly Hills episode had a guest star who is apparently so insecure he wouldn't work unless his constant companion was near by.

The guest was Herman, a 1700 pound hippo, who won't go anywhere without his buddy, an elephant. Director Joe Depew reluctantly agreed that if Herman wouldn't come alone, O.K., bring the elephant. He figured the elephant would stay in the background, but it turned out Herman can't act unless the elephant is six inches away. They tried all kinds of camera angles to keep the elephant out of the scene, but a portion of the beastie kept getting in camera range. So, after 28 takes, producer Paul Henning rewrote the scene to include an elephant!

The two animals, plus handlers, cost $653 a day, and they needed three days.

Talent Hunt Is On for 67-68 Variety Shows

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The great talent rush is on. In something akin to the opening of the Oklahoma Territory, at least a dozen musical-variety shows have already begun a race to secure performers for the 1967-68 television season.

Two of the principal competitors are Nick Vanoff and William Harbach, who will be producing ABC's Hollywood Palace for the fifth year.

Over 400 Hours

"I figured it up that there will be over 40 variety hours on the major networks next season," said the white-haired, urbane Harbach.

"So we've got to start lining up our talent early this time," added his partner. "Some seasons we began in August without knowing who will be on the shows. No more."

Vanoff and Harbach are gearing for new competition and a new time slot: after four successful years in the Saturday night spot, the Hollywood Palace is moving to Tuesday night at 10. The producers profess to be pleased.

"We managed to double the ABC rating in the time period," said Vanoff, "but it was always a struggle. We had to face 'Gunsmoke' and NBC's movie — and Saturday night is the traditional night for Americans to see movies."

"Also, we geared the show to an older audience, since we inherited the people who watched Lawrence Welk," added Harbach.

3 Multiple Hosts

The Tuesday night spot will give the boys a chance to aim the show at the swingers as well as the rocking chair jockeys.

The Palace producers have already lined up three hosts for multiple appearances: Bing Crosby, Jimmy Durante and Milton Berle. None of these is youthful. But Vanoff and Harbach opine, "There is nothing so assuring as to have a real pro at the helm," and they plan to surround the veterans with young talent."

HOW TO WRITE A GOOD CLASSIFIED WANT AD . . .

1. IT'S always best to start your advertisement with the name of the article or service you have to offer. If you have an apartment or room for rent or property for sale, start your advertisement with the location and/or town or city in which it is located.
2. BE clear. Readers respond more quickly and favorably.
3. MAKE it easy for the reader-prospect to reach you, when given complete or definite information.
Always insert your telephone number or your name and address. If you do not have regular hours, give a preferred time to have prospects contact you.
4. THE greatest reader attention can be secured by your advertisement by using consecutive insertions. Play safe—a six-day order is best and the rate is lower! You can stop your ad when you get results and the charge will be adjusted to the appropriate rate.
5. PLACE yourself in the reader's position and ask yourself what you would like to know (about your offer). The answer you give will make a good Classified Want Ad.
6. WANT ads that fail to bring satisfaction do so, not through any lack of readership, but because they are often carelessly worded and do not contain enough information to get prompt action.

Yes, it's simple to place your classified ad in the —

Holch Progress

Arthur Holch, who produced The Beautiful Blue and Red Danube, set for ABC-TV on March 30, once produced a special called The Turbulent Jordan. "This illustrates my progress," Holch said "The Jordan River is only 200 miles long. The Danube is 2,000."

Albany Diocese Easter Program

The annual Easter TV show of the Episcopal Diocese of Albany this year will feature John Stuart Anderson, a young British actor who will give a dramatic presentation titled The Record of John. This is a "one-man Passion Play" and it uses only the actual text of the Gospel of John. The drama includes the major incidents in the life of Jesus of Nazareth. His trial, crucifixion, and resurrection.

The following TV stations will carry this show:
WRGB Schenectady, channel 6, March 26, 11 A.M.; WTEN Albany, channel 10, March 26, 10 A. M.; WAST Albany, channel 13, March 26, 1:00 P.M.

The program concludes with the Easter greetings and blessings of the Rt. Rev. Allen W. Brown, Bishop of Albany.

John Stuart Anderson will give a most unusual and ambitious presentation. He is probably one of the few actors to appear almost exclusively in solo presentations, although he has appeared in special dialogue programs with the celebrated British actress, Miss Margaret Rutherford.

This program will have its own specially designed costume, lighting and music.

John Stuart Anderson's Biblical presentations have been given in many theatres as well as in most of the major Cathedrals in Britain and in the USA. He was the first actor to be invited to perform in the new Coventry Cathedral and last year in the National Cathedral in Washington, D. C. Following this performance, one reviewer said: "...to say that he recites from the Bible is an understatement. With no straining after effect, visually or vocally, he conveys an intensely moving experience and brings home the point that one fine actor can provide an evening of great theatre. This was truly a unique evening." It is difficult to describe what he does, but as the New York Times said: "With his magnificent voice, brilliant use of movement and gesture he succeeds in holding his audience spellbound and transforms the written word into something that really lives." The Toronto Globe & Mail wrote: "...showed himself the complete master of the histrionic arts, with his superbly dramatic handling of his material."

The appeal of John Stuart Anderson's performances has been universal to young and old alike and to people from all walks of life, perhaps, because his material is universal. After a packed audience in Liverpool had enthusiastically acclaimed a performance, the Liverpool Daily Post said: "...as skillful in mind as in speech, he makes the conjuring of several characters from one person effortless ... and from the point of view of the theatre he has revived the old, almost lost art, of the storyteller. We are reminded that the very beginnings of theatre were in the Church itself. Hearing a good story told with the maximum amount of fuss is still an enormous pleasure."

John Stuart Anderson was born in Burma of Scottish and Australian parents and spent his childhood in the highlands of Scotland. After serving in the Royal Air Force and study at the University of St. Andrews, he formed his own mime company, appearing in a series of his own plays on television. He then gained considerable experience in a repertory company, playing a wide variety of parts. In 1958, with the encouragement of the Bishop of Chichester, the late Dr. George K. Bell, and Lord Elton, he devised his own solo dramatic presentations. Nearly 1,000 performances have now been given throughout Britain, Europe and in four coast-to-coast North American tours. He has appeared in four Edinburgh Festivals and on television. During his first Canadian tour he was invited to give a solo performance in the Shakespeare Festival Theatre, Stratford, Ontario—only the second actor to do so. He has been invited to take part in special programs for the 1967 Montreal Exposition. After completing his current North American tour he undertakes an extensive tour of South Africa.

Roland, Calhoun Series?

Gilbert Roland, whose few TV appearances per year are usually worth waiting for, may have a series next season. He has made a pilot with Rory Calhoun for Desi Arnez called Land's End. In the series he plays a good guy cop who rules a Mexican town. "You know," Roland told TV SCOUT, "when you reach my age, you've got to be a little choosy. I'd like to do something real and honest and not just for laughs."

TV Questions & Answers

GOING TO GUNSMOKE—We are going to California in the near future and want to visit Gunsmoke. Do we need a pass to get on the set, or do we have to pay or what?—Mrs. E. T. Hibbing, Minn.

Before leaving write letters requesting permission to visit the set to: Guest Relations Department, CBS Studio Center, 4024 Radford Ave., Studio City, Calif. 90028.

FOREVER MITCH—What has happened to Sing Along With Mitch? Will they ever come back on TV?—E.V.L., Miami, Fla.

Mitch and his Singalong gang are very active with personal appearances, recordings and an occasional television spot. It is very doubtful that he will again have another regular TV series, at least not as you remember it.

HOLLYWOOD, AFRICA—Is Dakari actually produced in Africa? It seems impossible to duplicate those settings anywhere but in the real place.—R. D., Reading, Pa.

The only time you see the real Africa in Dakari is when the program uses film footage of wild animals. The program is filmed in a 200-acre area just 50 miles from Hollywood known as Africa, U.S.A. This sprawling ranch is a combined zoo, research center and breeding ground for over 400 animals.

DOUBLE TROUBLE—Does Leo G. Carroll use a double? I don't understand how he can appear in both The Man and The Girl from U.N.C.L.E. unless he has a stand-in for some of the scenes.—B. F., Reading Pa.

Of course Carroll has his troubles as you suggest but he does not use a double to solve them. Since both series are MGM productions, shooting schedules are arranged for Mr. Waverly so that he never has to be in two places at the same time. He does admit, however, that it is often a breathless situation.

REPEAT THE RASCALS—In the past we have all seen The Little Rascals and enjoyed them very much. We would like to see them again and we would appreciate your views on how we can.—9-G English Class, Aurora, Minn.

The Little Rascals is a series of old films in syndication which means they are sold to local television stations. Your best bet is to write individual letters to the program manager of your TV station requesting that he program the series.

Frowned on Funeral

A recent I Spy script called for a funeral procession. Filming was being done in Barrio Santa Cruz, a section of Saville, Spain, and it was necessary to get permission from the town mayor to use the narrow streets. Never, it seems, in the three-century-old city, has such a sight been seen. The mayor was reluctant to give permission, and only did when production supervisor Leon Chooluck convinced him how picturesque the city would appear. They filmed out of second story balconies, and hired a couple of local carriages to tote equipment and actors around.

"No, I couldn't say this is the worst TV show I've ever seen, until I see what they do next week!"

SEVEN TIMES SEVEN—I once saw a picture called "Seven Brides For Seven Brothers," which I thought was wonderful. I have been watching for it to be repeated on television but have not seen it. Do you know if it will ever be on TV again?—J. C., Champaign, Ill.

It certainly will. Unfortunately this film is classified in the quality musical group and as such it is held for specific competitive needs such as a rating week. Unfortunately, that means that when they do program it again, they will put it against something else that you really want to see.

DOUBTING THOMAS—Will you please advise if Danny Thomas has always been a Roman Catholic? I thought he had but a friend says he originally was Jewish. We know he is Lebanese.—M. E., Boerne, Texas

Danny was born in Deerfield, Michigan, the son of Syrian parents and has always been a devout member of the Maronite Rite of the Roman Catholic Church. His real last name in Jacobs, which probably accounts for your friend's misinformation.

Lanning Is Cheered by Stage Hands

NEW YORK—The electrician shifted the cold cigar in his big grinning face and applauded with all the gusto of a baseball fan.

"You can give odds," he shouted above the loud ovation that filled the television studio, "when this show goes on the air, that kid will be a star."

The show is Damn Yankees, due on NBC-TV, April 8. The young man he was lauding and applauding is 23-year-old Jerry Lanning.

The tall and talented son of singer Roberta Sherwood had just finished "A Man Doesn't Know," from the hit musical, and the crew of electricians, carpenters, make-up men et al, spontaneously burst into applause.

This may seem fairly natural since it happens in the movies all the time. But in real life, the blase tradesmen who ply their crafts among the most glittering show business names, rarely display enthusiasm, or even approval.

But they loved Jerry Lanning, and so did everyone else in that studio from producer to press representative. In fact, the only person there who didn't think

JERRY LANNING

Lanning will steal the show was Phil Silvers' agent.

"What a thrill," the tall personable youngster was saying a few minutes later. "You don't expect that kind of reaction in a TV studio. It's even greater than the applause you get on stage."

Lanning knows what he's talking about since he is currently featured in the Broadway hit "Mame," and is often the object of ardent audience approval.

As the son of a famous performer, Lanning makes no bones about the role his mother has had in shaping his career.

"She never pushes," he said, "but she's always there. If I make 15 mistakes in one scene, she'll only mention one. We'll clear that one up and then go on to another."

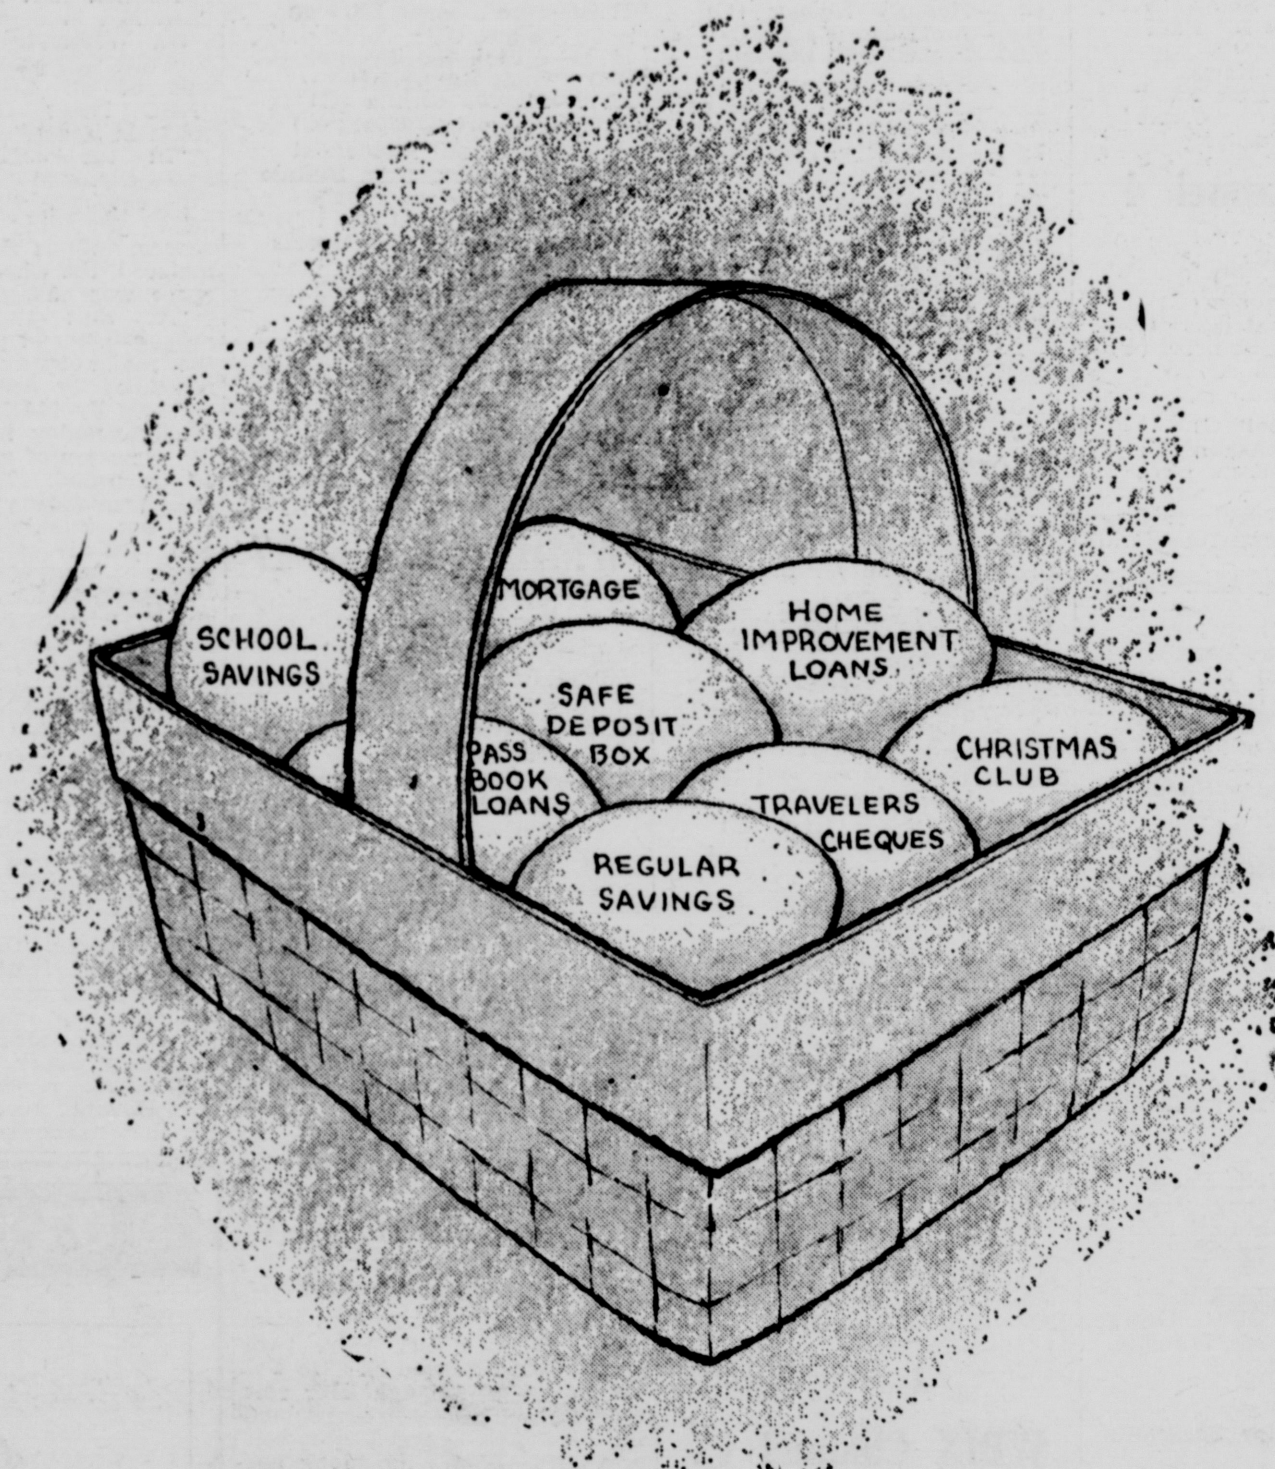

When Lanning is working before the TV cameras, he is oblivious to them. "Another part of my mother's advice," he said.

"The director gets paid for working the cameras. My obligation is to the audience. If I can reach them, then both my job and his are successful."

"What's the most important thing my mother taught me? Well that's easy. How not to sing."

"People ruin a song by singing it. They push it too hard and forget what it means. I try to say the song."

Now, does that sound like Roberta Sherwood's son?

Caesar Has Changed

Howard Morris says there is a change in Sid Caesar, with whom he has recently reunited for the Sid Caesar-Imogene Cocoa-Carl Reiner-Howard Morris special on CBS-TV on April 5.
"For openers, Sid has lost 40 pounds. I found him changed in his attitude. He's more in touch with reality than when we all worked with him in New York."

Shy Carol Burnett

When Carol Burnett was given the script for a Lucy Show two-part, just repeated on CBS-TV, she got a good laugh. Her role was that of a boy-shy girl, and she had just learned she was pregnant. (Shows how long ago that episode was filmed, since Carol has now had her baby.)

STATION BREAK

"Me? Sign a petition to abol-

'NASA' Subject Of NBC News

BY FRANK LANGLEY

NEW YORK—A "sacred cow" is about to be stripped and dissected, and its aristocratic lowing is bound to produce sympathy pains from Washington to Texas.

The name of the "cow" is NASA, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and the veterinarian is an NBC-TV
News producer named Jim Kitchell.

"NASA was born swaddled in an American flag," Kitchell was saying as he rubbed his ham-like hands together in sweaty anticipation, "and since then has been cuddled and coddled as the one government super-agency which could do no wrong and get anything they wanted."

The 6 ft. 2 in. crew-cut executive has been on top of the space program since the orbiting of Russia's Sputnik jarred the nation's extra-terrestrial complacency 10 years ago this fall. Top man in the NBC-TV news department's space operation, he has been gathering data for the past four years to support his contention that NASA must be examined in depth.

On Wednesday, April 5, the network will present the end result of all that work titled "NBC News Inquiry: Crossroads in Space."

"In the beginning of our space exploration," Kitchell said, "the emphasis was on getting a solid grounding in basic research. When Sputnik was announced, the whole philosophy of space was changed."

"At that time, politics, propaganda and prestige became the major issues with absolute schedules the order of the day."

"Actually NASA is a tremendously complex, multi-billion dollar operation of which we should all be proud. They have done some tremendous things, but they are not infallible. They have also pulled some tremendous goofs."

"Schedules, for instance, should not be misconstrued with goals.
Landing a man on the moon should not be the prime project with resulting detriments to other space exploration operations."

"Prestige should not be an end that justifies any means and a public relations unit with an annual budget of $11,000,000 would serve better as an agency for informing the people with all facts instead of aggrandizing some successes while deftly hiding all else."

"Of course, there is always politics and NASA is a prime target. It is a matter of record that for four consecutive years the NASA budget was cut annually by 5 per cent until finally announcement was made that Houston had been selected as the agency's headquarters."

And the announcement was made from the then Vice President's office in Austin."

Kitchell contends that the main purpose of NASA, space research and exploration, has been subverted to gain political propaganda and international prestige.

"Unless we return to the basic concept of total research programs to achieve specific goals, our long-term achievements must suffer, and our nation as well."

ABC Still Not Sure of Fall Program of Shows

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — History is often rewritten these days to make better television entertainment. But NBC's "Daniel Boone" ran off with some sort of a prize in this area Thursday night.

The series had Dan'l and his terribly cultured Indian friend, Mingo, saving West Point from the British and capturing that notorious British spy, Major John Andre.

There were, undoubtedly, many older viewers who were amused at the sight of Daniel and Mingo, far from the wilds of Kentucky helping General Washington solve his problems on the banks of the Hudson River.

'Tunnel' May Evaporate

This sort of thing does become distressing because the program is aimed primarily at the young viewers — and some of them will probably believe that Daniel Boone and his friend, almost single handedly, saved the young nation during a week when General Washington was on a business trip to Connecticut.

Romanticized versions of history have been very successful on NBC, and now ABC is thinking about dropping its science-fiction series, "Time Tunnel" at season's end and replacing it with a new one called "The Legend of Custer."

Advance word is that the series deals with the general in the way that "Daniel Boone" handles the backwoodsman. If so, it would not be surprising to find that Custer and his soldiers were actually the victors at Little Big Horn.

ABC is still fussing around with its fall schedule. "The Avengers," originally scheduled to return in the fall, has not been doing too well in the Nielsen ratings and may not make it. There have been reports for months about reviving "Person to Person" after all these seasons. Now ABC is considering a show along these lines — with F. Lee Bailey, the criminal lawyer, interviewing the great and the famous in their homes. Lest it be confused with Edward R. Murrow's old series, names under consideration are "RSVP," "The VIPs," "Entre Nous" and "Here and Now."

"The Fugitive" is an ABC casualty since star David Jansen is unwilling to tackle another season. Two special episodes of the series, wrapping up the story and establishing the innocence of the hero, will not be shown until the end of August — at the end of the summer reruns.

Weekend Specials

Recommended weekend viewing:

Sunday — "Marineland Carnival," CBS, 7-8 p.m. EST, special for young viewers; "The Robe," ABC, 7-9:30, broadcast of the feature film about the crucifixion; "Tony" awards show, ABC, 9:30-10:30, presentation of the New York Theaters' acting citations.

Comedy Idols

CBS Is Going Into Business Of Making Films

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The talk of the film industry this week was the announcement by the Columbia Broadcasting System that it is going into the business of making movie for theaters.

"This makes it a whole new ball game," said a movie bigwig in assessing the significance of the CBS move.

The announcement was made by John A. Schneider, president of the CBS broadcast group.

The import of this development is being discussed in film industry circles.

At least three elements have emerged:

1. CBS is taking firm action to assure supply of feature movies for its network programming. And if CBS does so, NBC and ABC may well follow suit.

The smash success of "The Bridge On The River Kwai" this season proved the value of feature movies in prime time TV. All three networks have become increasingly concerned about the supply of features, which will be expended within three years. At that time the networks will have to start replaying films that have already appeared on TV — or else supply new ones.

2. The major studios will now be faced with direct competition by the television industry.

Until now, the Hollywood companies have thrived by using television to bolster their finances: sales of TV series and old movies have saved the studios from insolvency.

For the first time, the old-line companies are faced with direct competition for theatrical bookings. Is the CBS move at variance with antitrust laws? The film companies may look into this. But CBS will undoubtedly seek to protect itself on that score.

3. Movie theaters will wel-

Large Cast

The Man From U.N.C.L.E. has a two-parter coming up at the end of the month that has quite a cast: Joan Crawford, Curt Jurgens, Terry-Thomas, Telly Savalas, Herbert Lom, Diane McBain, Kim Darby and Jill Ireland (the ex-Mrs. David McCallum). Despite the cast the show, which will be released as a film in Europe, did not go over the usual budget. Reason: Only Lom goes all the way through the story. The others just came in for two or three day bits.

Oh, Not That

Word is around that a documentary on the life and times of deposed New York Congressman Adam Clayton Powell is being offered to the networks. So far no takers.

come the CBS development.

For the past decade the central theme of theater conventions has been: "We need more product." Exhibitors have claimed that the film producers do not supply enough new features to maintain a healthy industry.

The number of CBS features is expected to be no more than 10 per year at the beginning.
